Eichmann Nazi "Tool," Defense Claims

Legal Debate Marks First Day Of Trial

Accused Murderer Of European Jewry Shows No Emotion

JERUSALEM (AP)—Far from the concentration camps he helped turn into factories of death, Adolf Eichmann faced his Jewish accusers Tuesday and heard his attorney challenge their right to bring him to trial.

His pale face showed no emotion as the Israeli court read off a roll of crimes portraying him as a mastermind in the methodical extermination of millions of Jews.

Then, behind the bullet-proof glass of a specially constructed prisoner's dock, the onetime Gestapo bureaucrat listened with Teutonic stolidness while his attorney pictured him as no more than a tool "dragged" into his actions by the Nazi state.

The trial's opening day ended with legalistic questions still unresolved. Eichmann himself had spoken only a single word—and has not yet pleaded to the charges.

First came the reading of the indictment, in Hebrew and German. The itemization of this 15-count charge took 70 minutes.

During its reading the slim, bald former Jewish affairs chief of Hitler's Germany stood in the dock and scarcely moved. His hands were folded before him, his lips pursed in a petulant expression.

Atmosphere Electric

The document, read by Chief Justice Moshe Landau, accused Eichmann of criminal responsibility for the slaughter of six million Jews in Nazi-dominated Europe during World War II. It pictured him as the brains behind the systematic horror of Belsen, Auschwitz, Chelmno, Treblinka and other notorious camps dedicated to race murder.

In the marble-faced community center — and throughout Israeli Jerusalem — the atmosphere was electric as the long-awaited trial began. A cordon of 200 police, their automatic rifles glinting in hot sunshine, surrounded the building.

And then, with dramatic suddenness, the man called the arch-persecutor of European Jewry was on public view for the first time since Israeli agents ran him down in Argentina almost a year ago and spirited him to Israel.

Wearing earphones so he could hear the German translation of the Hebrew proceedings, his head cocked in an attitude of stiff attention, Eichmann stared fixedly at the judges' bench as Justice Landau enumerated the names, places and deeds which struck terror into European Jewry in the days of Nazis.

Speaks One Word—"Jawohl"

He heard himself described as the chief architect of Adolf Hitler's "final solution of the Jewish question."

Before hearing the indictment, he spoke his only word of the day into the record. That was "jawohl," the German military way of saying yes, when he was asked to answer to his name.

Then, before he could plead to the charge, his attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, rose to address the three-man court of German-born judges.

Servatius is a stocky attorney from Cologne, Germany, selected by Eichmann to defend him—and paid by Israel.

He contended that "one of the judges" might be prejudiced. He also argued that Israel's 1950 law covering Nazis and Nazi collaborators did not apply because it was enacted after the deeds in question.

Servatius did not name the judge he thought might be prejudiced, but he obviously referred to Justice Benyamin Halevy, who, in presiding over a collaboration case four years ago, called Eichmann "the devil."

Eichmann, said Servatius, was

Russia To Free U2 Pilot Soon, Paper Reports

LONDON (AP) — The London Daily Mail said Wednesday U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers will be freed from a Soviet prison in the next few weeks and will choose to stay in Russia.

The Mail's Moscow correspondent John Mossman reported:

"I understand he would like his wife, Barbara, to join him, and she is anxious to come here."

The Mail said Powers probably will walk to freedom May 1 — exactly a year after his reconnaissance plane was shot down.

And the newspaper quoted Mrs. Powers as saying in New York:

"I would love to go to Moscow to join my husband. I will go out to him if possible, even if he decided to stay on after his release."

Mossman quoted no Russian source for his story, but reported:

"He (Powers) is believed to be in Vladimir Prison, near Moscow. His release is planned as a demonstration of increased goodwill between the Soviet Union and America."

The Mail said Mrs. Powers telephoned government officials in Washington after getting a letter from her husband.

"Yes, I have heard Gary is to be released. That is why I telephoned Washington to talk to them about it," she was quoted.

"I have had nothing official to confirm the rumors, but I had a lovely letter from Gary only this morning. I have already told him I would go to Moscow to join him."

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said "we haven't heard anything about it" if Powers is to be released. The spokesman said he didn't know if Ms. Powers had phoned any officials in Washington or not.

Adenauer Arrives For Strategy Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived here Tuesday night to check signals personally with President Kennedy on cold war policy against the Communists.

The 85-year-old German leader arrived at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., in a German Lufthansa jet airliner after a nonstop flight from Bonn.

Adenauer will begin talks with the 43-year-old Kennedy Wednesday. This is another in a series of personal contacts between Kennedy and free world leaders designed to cement Western relations.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain preceded Adenauer, and next month Kennedy will fly to Paris to meet French President Charles de Gaulle.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk welcomed Adenauer and told him: "It is most opportune that you could arrange to consult with us at precisely this time when a new American administration is shaping major policy lines which we will expect to follow during the years ahead."

Adenauer was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Lilibeth Werhahn, and a party of 13 German officials headed by Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

Adenauer arrived with two ready-made concessions to the U.S. government.

One was agreement to postpone an Eisenhower administration proposal to make NATO a fourth nuclear power. West Germany was the only nation to back this plan strongly, and the Kennedy administration has indicated it would like further time to study unsolved problems in the plan.

The other was an announcement made shortly after Adenauer left Bonn that Germany would prepay $587 million of its $787 million postwar debt to the United States. U.S. officials requested this as a way to alleviate the current unfavorable balance of American payments.

A further concession along this line was agreement to pay the remaining $200 million in debts, starting in 1966. Germany had asked the United States to forget this payment in compensation for German assets confiscated during the war, but the U.S. officials had rejected this idea.

Texas Twister Injures Four

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Four persons were injured, three seriously, late Tuesday when a small tornado ripped an area in north Dallas County, just beyond the city limits.

Aubrey Crawford, 45, his wife and their infant son were seriously injured when the tornado demolished their trailer home and his adjacent gasoline station. A neighbor, who lived about 200 yards away, was slightly injured when a storm cellar door was slammed on her arm.

Crawford's gas station was blown across the highway and scattered over a 100-acre area.

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda, the Communist party paper, complained Tuesday that 1,125 of Moscow's 80,600 pay telephones have been knocked out of commission by coin thieves.

Alcohol "Must" For Jet Age Survival, Medic Says

LONDON (AP) — An eminent British physician said Tuesday he is convinced that man must have alcohol or tranquilizers to survive in today's jet age.

"The use of these drugs is necessary for man's continued existence in our so-called civilized world," he said.

"If he did not take them he would commit suicide when things got too bad for him."

The physician—Dr. B. G. B. Lucas—was elaborating in an interview on remarks he made in a lecture before the Royal Institute of Public Health and Hygiene.

In the lecture he said: "Modern man cannot do without drink and drugs to survive. He takes drugs to overcome his mind and his problems."

By drugs, he said, he meant alcohol, sedatives and tranquilizers.

Lucas is a prominent specialist as an anaesthetist.

Explaining his startling views to reporters, Lucas said that civilization has produced many drunkards but few teetotalers who were geniuses. He said he could name only Albert Einstein and Albert Schweitzer.

H. Cecil Heath, secretary of the United Kingdom Alliance for the Suppression of the Liquor Trade, took immediate exception.

"Geniuses who have been teetotalers?" he asked. "How about Thomas A. Edison, Henry Ford and George Bernard Shaw?"

Kennedy Opens Drive On Job Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy personally launched a drive Tuesday to remove "every trace of discrimination" from the filling of federal jobs or hiring by contractors who do business with the government.

Kennedy told the first meeting of his new Committee for Equal Employment Opportunity that he had armed the group with powerful sanctions so it can be an effective instrument against job discrimination.

This referred to Kennedy's remarks, when he established the group March 6, that such panels in prior administrations had been largely ineffective because he said they lacked adequate procedures and enforcement methods.

To overcome this, Kennedy armed the new 22-member committee with powers to cancel government contracts held by firms that refuse to fulfill the standard nondiscriminatory clause in all federal contracts. This required equal hiring opportunity and working conditions for all.

Kennedy spoke behind closed doors to the committee, which is headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg is vice chairman of the panel, which is made up of government, business, labor and civic leaders.

U. S. Suits Ask Millions From Electric Firms

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Eleven electrical companies, convicted conspirators in antitrust price-fixing and bid-rigging, were sued by the U.S. government Tuesday for millions of dollars in damages.

Six separate complaints were filed in U. S. District Court accusing the firms, including the nation's two biggest — General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.—of cheating the Tennessee Valley Authority and a dozen other federal agencies in the sale of equipment used for generation, transmission and distribution of electricity.

Specifically, the suits allege the companies, as early as 1956, defrauded the government by fixing noncompetitive prices and bids that were substantially and unreasonably high.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, discussing the suits in Washington, said the amount of money damages sought was presently undetermined "but it would run into millions of dollars."

Tuesday's actions followed by two months the conviction of 29 companies—the current 11 among them—and 44 of their executives. These defendants were fined $1,925,500. Seven men spent about four weeks in jail.

Multimillion-dollar civil suits, by the government and by private industry, have been indicated for the months ahead.

Last March 14, the government joined TVA in seeking $12 million damages from five firms, including GE and Westinghouse, for alleged price-fixing in the sale of large circuit breakers over a nine-year period.

Besides the two electrical giants, named in all six complaints, the other firms sued Tuesday were:

Allis - Chalmers Manufacturing Co., West Allis, Wis., named in four; I-T-E Circuit Breaker Co., Philadelphia, three; Federal Pacific Electric Co., Newark, N. J., McGraw-Edison Co., Elgin, Ill., Wagner Electric Corp., St. Louis, and Moloney Electric Co., St. Louis, two each, and Cutler-Hammer Co., Milwaukee; Square-D Co., Detroit, and Kuhlman Electric Co., Troy, Mich., one each.

Rusk Expects Soviet Reply On Laos Soon

Mansfield Says Situation Delicate, Far From Settled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any further delay in a Laotian cease-fire agreement, a State Department spokesman said Tuesday, "would be a matter of very serious concern."

This assessment came from press officer Lincoln White after Secretary of State Dean Rusk told reporters he expects a Soviet reply "within a very few days" to a British proposal for an immediate cease-fire in Laos.

Soviet Boosts Arms Flow

Mansfield spoke in the wake of overnight reports, confirmed by the State Department, that the Soviet Union had increased its flow of arms and other supplies to rebel forces in Laos.

The British proposed several weeks ago, with U. S. backing, that the civil war in Laos be halted immediately and that an international conference be called to work out a permanent settlement.

A Soviet reply had been expected momentarily during last weeks Washington talks between British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Kennedy. It never came.

Rusk Meets With Senators

Rusk emerged from a closed-door session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday and told newsmen: "I don't know, in view of all the circumstances, that there has been undue delay."

Asked whether the United States had stepped up its supplies to the Laos government, Rusk replied: "To a degree."

At the State Department, White said the United States is concerned about the stepup in Soviet arms deliveries to the Communist-led Pathet Lao forces. He said "some increase," as he described it, had developed over the past three days or so.

$1.25 Minimum Pay Bill Voted By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's minimum wage bill, altered by the House last month, emerged from a Senate committee Tuesday with almost all his pet provisions intact.

By a 13-2 vote, the Labor Committee voted to raise the minimum wage, now at $1 an hour, to $1.25 an hour and to extend that minimum to four million more workers.

Committee approval came in two hours. But the bill's path may not be so easy from now on.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., one of the committee members who voted no, said opponents would make their main fight against the bill on the floor of the Senate.

The bill goes to the floor Thursday. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hoped the Senate would pass it by Friday night.

First Lady Expresses Concern Over Keeping Private Life For Her Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, in a nationwide television interview, Tuesday night expressed anxiety over keeping a private life for her children in the White House.

"I rather hold my breath," she said, about the day when her 3-year-old daughter Caroline starts to school.

She said the major problem is "How can I bring up normal children, if they can't be treated that way?"

President and Mrs. Kennedy, who appeared together on the second of an NBC-TV series entitled "JFK," are the first White House occupants since Theodore Roosevelt to bring up their young children there.

Mrs. Kennedy said that the life "is rather hard with children" because there is so little privacy for them and people treat them as celebrities.

She noted that she recently had to forego taking Caroline to the circus herself "because I would ruin it for her." So Caroline went with friends and was virtually unnoticed in the crowd.

"I worked so hard to make her little ballet school a private thing we could do together and there were all the photographers waiting there when we got there," she added.

Mrs. Kennedy said she is going to try hard to keep a private life for her children—Caroline, and 4-month-old John Jr.

Caroline is still too young to be affected by the public spotlight, Mrs. Kennedy said, "but someday she is going to have to go to school, and if she is in the papers all the time that will affect her little classmates and they will treat her differently."

The First Lady said, however, that she intends to send Caroline to kindergarten when she reaches that age, adding, "She must do all the normal things you do normally. But I rather hold my breath about that day."

Mrs. Kennedy said she and the President treat Caroline the same as always, "but it is how other people treat her because of what they read about her" that causes Mrs. Kennedy anxiety.

$32,000 IDEA — Herbert F. Owens, a 36-year-old engineer at International Business Machine Corporation's Baltimore branch, has won $32,000 as a company suggestion award. IBM officials said the award was probably the largest of its type ever made. Owens' idea involved a design change in the drive unit for magnetic tape used in high-speed computers. (AP Photofax)

Latin America Aid Imperative, Kennedy Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Tuesday night "if we don't move now" to aid Latin-American nations, Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro "may become a greater danger than he is today."

The President also asserted that Latin America "is in a most critical period in its relations with us."

Kennedy made these remarks in a television interview taped for nationwide broadcast by NBC. He did not elaborate on them during a 25-minute question and answer session dealing mostly with his conception of the presidency and how he prefers to work informally with administration officials and White House aides.

The subject of Latin America came up in discussion of the roles of some of the President's aides. The interviewer, NBC White House correspondent Ray Scherer, asked about Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., author and Harvard professor of history who recently joined Kennedy's staff.

Kennedy noted that Schlesinger toured several Latin-American countries about a month ago and has reported to the President on some of the problems dealing with the Cuban situation.

Kennedy then went on to say: "Latin America is a great preoccupation of all us, and he (Schlesinger) is devoting his time to that.

"I think Latin America is in a most critical period in its relations with us. Therefore, if we don't move now, Mr. Castro may become a greater danger than he is today."

Newsmen asked Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, what the President had in mind in saying "if we don't move now." Salinger checked with Kennedy and then told reporters the President was talking about a move to aid Latin-American nations, and not any sort of direct move against the Castro regime.

The President recently outlined a 10-year program of U. S. aid for Latin-American countries.

Concerning his methods as president, Kennedy said he believes formal Cabinet meetings on a frequent and regular schedule "are a waste of time."

He emphasized, however, that the conferences he has regularly with individual members of his Cabinet are most valuable and productive.

Brought Back Alive, London 'Worker' Says

Astronaut Suffers "Emotional Strain" After Orbital Flight

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviets sent a man into space aboard a 4.5-ton spaceship last Friday, orbited him three times around the earth and brought him back alive, it was reported Tuesday.

There was no official confirmation of the report by the Soviet government.

But well-informed sources told United Press International that the first successful manned space flight had been completed Friday.

The sources said the astronaut suffered "emotional strain" and was still undergoing physical examinations by Soviet scientists. They stressed that the after-effects of the flight were not physical but emotional.

It was believed that the man was a professional test pilot and the son of a prominent aircraft designer.

Details of the reported flight were cabled from Moscow by the chief correspondent of the London Daily Worker, the British Communist party newspaper.

The report by Worker correspondent Dennis Ogden quoted "well-informed sources" and was almost identical in many respects to the statements made to UPI.

Suffers "After Effects"

It said the astronaut was suffering "after effects" but did not describe them. It also identified him as an aircraft designer's son.

It said he spun around the earth three times at an altitude of 200 miles — barely above the earth's atmosphere—and was returned to a safe landing in response to a signal from the ground.

Ogden's report said the man rode in a 4.5-ton spaceship similar to the type previously sent aloft and returned safely with dogs aboard. So far, three Soviet dogs have made the trip into space and back.

The Ogden dispatch, to appear in Wednesday's issue of the Daily Worker, said an official announcement would be made by the Russians Wednesday.

Soviet and foreign correspondents maintained an around-the-clock watch for an official announcement of the flight.

Official Sources Silent

But official sources maintained absolute silence, neither confirming nor denying the reports. Moscow radio and the official Communist party newspaper Pravda were flooded with telephone calls inquiring about the reported manned space flight.

The only mention of the subject in Tuesday's Soviet press, an article in the government newspaper Izvestia, appeared to throw cold water on the reports.

It quoted a Soviet scientist, Prof. Andrei Kuznetsov, as having said the U.S.S.R only "stands on the threshold" of orbiting a man.

The report of the Daily Worker was considered important because it is the official British Communist party organ and is close to Moscow sources.

Administration Said To Support College Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration was said Tuesday to be in accord with a move in the House to provide direct federal grants to colleges, including those controlled by churches.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., who is sponsoring the administration's higher education bill in the House, has offered the grant proposal. She said it meets with administration approval.

President Kennedy has consistently drawn a distinction between colleges and secondary schools as recipients of federal aid. But the extension of grants to private colleges would seem certain to further inflame the church-state controversy now raging about the whole issue of federal aid to education.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., a leader in the fight to get some kind of federal aid for parochial schools, viewed the development favorably.

Edgar Fuller, head of the Council of Chief State School Officers, said such a program would be unconstitutional and would be vigorously opposed by his group.

Six separate complaints were filed in U. S. District Court accusing the firms, including the nation's two biggest — General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.—of cheating the Tennessee Valley Authority and a dozen other federal agencies in the sale of equipment used for generation, transmission and distribution of electricity.

Specifically, the suits allege the companies, as early as 1956, defrauded the government by fixing noncompetitive prices and bids that were substantially and unreasonably high.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, discussing the suits in Washington, said the amount of money damages sought was presently undetermined "but it would run into millions of dollars."

Tuesday's actions followed by two months the conviction of 29 companies—the current 11 among them—and 44 of their executives. These defendants were fined $1,925,500. Seven men spent about four weeks in jail.

Multimillion-dollar civil suits, by the government and by private industry, have been indicated for the months ahead.

Last March 14, the government joined TVA in seeking $12 million damages from five firms, including GE and Westinghouse, for alleged price-fixing in the sale of large circuit breakers over a nine-year period.

Besides the two electrical giants, named in all six complaints, the other firms sued Tuesday were:

Allis - Chalmers Manufacturing Co., West Allis, Wis., named in four; I-T-E Circuit Breaker Co., Philadelphia, three; Federal Pacific Electric Co., Newark, N. J., McGraw-Edison Co., Elgin, Ill., Wagner Electric Corp., St. Louis, and Moloney Electric Co., St. Louis, two each, and Cutler-Hammer Co., Milwaukee; Square-D Co., Detroit, and Kuhlman Electric Co., Troy, Mich., one each.

Rusk Expects Soviet Reply On Laos Soon

Mansfield Says Situation Delicate, Far From Settled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any further delay in a Laotian cease-fire agreement, a State Department spokesman said Tuesday, "would be a matter of very serious concern."

This assessment came from press officer Lincoln White after Secretary of State Dean Rusk told reporters he expects a Soviet reply "within a very few days" to a British proposal for an immediate cease-fire in Laos.

Soviet Boosts Arms Flow

Mansfield spoke in the wake of overnight reports, confirmed by the State Department, that the Soviet Union had increased its flow of arms and other supplies to rebel forces in Laos.

The British proposed several weeks ago, with U. S. backing, that the civil war in Laos be halted immediately and that an international conference be called to work out a permanent settlement.

A Soviet reply had been expected momentarily during last weeks Washington talks between British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Kennedy. It never came.

Rusk Meets With Senators

Rusk emerged from a closed-door session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday and told newsmen: "I don't know, in view of all the circumstances, that there has been undue delay."

Asked whether the United States had stepped up its supplies to the Laos government, Rusk replied: "To a degree."

At the State Department, White said the United States is concerned about the stepup in Soviet arms deliveries to the Communist-led Pathet Lao forces. He said "some increase," as he described it, had developed over the past three days or so.

$1.25 Minimum Pay Bill Voted By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's minimum wage bill, altered by the House last month, emerged from a Senate committee Tuesday with almost all his pet provisions intact.

By a 13-2 vote, the Labor Committee voted to raise the minimum wage, now at $1 an hour, to $1.25 an hour and to extend that minimum to four million more workers.

Committee approval came in two hours. But the bill's path may not be so easy from now on.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., one of the committee members who voted no, said opponents would make their main fight against the bill on the floor of the Senate.

The bill goes to the floor Thursday. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hoped the Senate would pass it by Friday night.

$32,000 IDEA — Herbert F. Owens, a 36-year-old engineer at International Business Machine Corporation's Baltimore branch, has won $32,000 as a company suggestion award. IBM officials said the award was probably the largest of its type ever made. Owens' idea involved a design change in the drive unit for magnetic tape used in high-speed computers. (AP Photofax)

Latin America Aid Imperative, Kennedy Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Tuesday night "if we don't move now" to aid Latin-American nations, Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro "may become a greater danger than he is today."

The President also asserted that Latin America "is in a most critical period in its relations with us."

Kennedy made these remarks in a television interview taped for nationwide broadcast by NBC. He did not elaborate on them during a 25-minute question and answer session dealing mostly with his conception of the presidency and how he prefers to work informally with administration officials and White House aides.

The subject of Latin America came up in discussion of the roles of some of the President's aides. The interviewer, NBC White House correspondent Ray Scherer, asked about Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., author and Harvard professor of history who recently joined Kennedy's staff.

Kennedy noted that Schlesinger toured several Latin-American countries about a month ago and has reported to the President on some of the problems dealing with the Cuban situation.

Kennedy then went on to say: "Latin America is a great preoccupation of all us, and he (Schlesinger) is devoting his time to that.

"I think Latin America is in a most critical period in its relations with us. Therefore, if we don't move now, Mr. Castro may become a greater danger than he is today."

Newsmen asked Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, what the President had in mind in saying "if we don't move now." Salinger checked with Kennedy and then told reporters the President was talking about a move to aid Latin-American nations, and not any sort of direct move against the Castro regime.

The President recently outlined a 10-year program of U. S. aid for Latin-American countries.

Concerning his methods as president, Kennedy said he believes formal Cabinet meetings on a frequent and regular schedule "are a waste of time."

He emphasized, however, that the conferences he has regularly with individual members of his Cabinet are most valuable and productive.

First Lady Expresses Concern Over Keeping Private Life For Her Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, in a nationwide television interview, Tuesday night expressed anxiety over keeping a private life for her children in the White House.

"I rather hold my breath," she said, about the day when her 3-year-old daughter Caroline starts to school.

She said the major problem is "How can I bring up normal children, if they can't be treated that way?"

President and Mrs. Kennedy, who appeared together on the second of an NBC-TV series entitled "JFK," are the first White House occupants since Theodore Roosevelt to bring up their young children there.

Mrs. Kennedy said that the life "is rather hard with children" because there is so little privacy for them and people treat them as celebrities.

She noted that she recently had to forego taking Caroline to the circus herself "because I would ruin it for her." So Caroline went with friends and was virtually unnoticed in the crowd.

"I worked so hard to make her little ballet school a private thing we could do together and there were all the photographers waiting there when we got there," she added.

Mrs. Kennedy said she is going to try hard to keep a private life for her children—Caroline, and 4-month-old John Jr.

Caroline is still too young to be affected by the public spotlight, Mrs. Kennedy said, "but someday she is going to have to go to school, and if she is in the papers all the time that will affect her little classmates and they will treat her differently."

The First Lady said, however, that she intends to send Caroline to kindergarten when she reaches that age, adding, "She must do all the normal things you do normally. But I rather hold my breath about that day."

Mrs. Kennedy said she and the President treat Caroline the same as always, "but it is how other people treat her because of what they read about her" that causes Mrs. Kennedy anxiety.

Brought Back Alive, London 'Worker' Says

Astronaut Suffers "Emotional Strain" After Orbital Flight

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviets sent a man into space aboard a 4.5-ton spaceship last Friday, orbited him three times around the earth and brought him back alive, it was reported Tuesday.

There was no official confirmation of the report by the Soviet government.

But well-informed sources told United Press International that the first successful manned space flight had been completed Friday.

The sources said the astronaut suffered "emotional strain" and was still undergoing physical examinations by Soviet scientists. They stressed that the after-effects of the flight were not physical but emotional.

It was believed that the man was a professional test pilot and the son of a prominent aircraft designer.

Details of the reported flight were cabled from Moscow by the chief correspondent of the London Daily Worker, the British Communist party newspaper.

The report by Worker correspondent Dennis Ogden quoted "well-informed sources" and was almost identical in many respects to the statements made to UPI.

Suffers "After Effects"

It said the astronaut was suffering "after effects" but did not describe them. It also identified him as an aircraft designer's son.

It said he spun around the earth three times at an altitude of 200 miles — barely above the earth's atmosphere—and was returned to a safe landing in response to a signal from the ground.

Ogden's report said the man rode in a 4.5-ton spaceship similar to the type previously sent aloft and returned safely with dogs aboard. So far, three Soviet dogs have made the trip into space and back.

The Ogden dispatch, to appear in Wednesday's issue of the Daily Worker, said an official announcement would be made by the Russians Wednesday.

Soviet and foreign correspondents maintained an around-the-clock watch for an official announcement of the flight.

Official Sources Silent

But official sources maintained absolute silence, neither confirming nor denying the reports. Moscow radio and the official Communist party newspaper Pravda were flooded with telephone calls inquiring about the reported manned space flight.

The only mention of the subject in Tuesday's Soviet press, an article in the government newspaper Izvestia, appeared to throw cold water on the reports.

It quoted a Soviet scientist, Prof. Andrei Kuznetsov, as having said the U.S.S.R only "stands on the threshold" of orbiting a man.

The report of the Daily Worker was considered important because it is the official British Communist party organ and is close to Moscow sources.

Administration Said To Support College Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration was said Tuesday to be in accord with a move in the House to provide direct federal grants to colleges, including those controlled by churches.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., who is sponsoring the administration's higher education bill in the House, has offered the grant proposal. She said it meets with administration approval.

President Kennedy has consistently drawn a distinction between colleges and secondary schools as recipients of federal aid. But the extension of grants to private colleges would seem certain to further inflame the church-state controversy now raging about the whole issue of federal aid to education.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., a leader in the fight to get some kind of federal aid for parochial schools, viewed the development favorably.

Edgar Fuller, head of the Council of Chief State School Officers, said such a program would be unconstitutional and would be vigorously opposed by his group.

Population Center Shifts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The population center of the United States has gone west again.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges announced Tuesday the new center, based on the 1960 census, is near Centralia, Ill., 57 miles west of its 1950 location.

In general, the population center is the point through which a straight line can be drawn in any direction dividing the country's population in half. As many people would live on one side of the line as on the other.

The center always has been closer to the East Coast than the West Coast because more Americans live in the Eastern half of the country. But since 1790, when the first census was taken, the center has been edging westward.

That push received further impetus the past decade for two reasons: The spurt of population in California and other Western states and the addition of two new Western states, Alaska and Hawaii.

The center now is at 38 degrees, 35 minutes, 58 seconds north latitude and 89 degrees, 12 minutes, 35 seconds west longitude.

Finan Orders Loan Firm Halt Stock Sale

BALTIMORE (AP) — Stating that the American Fidelity Building and Loan Association, Inc. was "employing or about to employ a device, scheme or artifice to defraud . . . ." Maryland Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan has ordered the firm to "permanently cease and desist" in the sale of stock to the public.

A spokesman for Finan's office said that no building and loan firm existed at the address set forth in a prospectus issued by the association recently.

The order, issued Monday was the latest development in an increasing study of the operations of multistock building and loan firms. Authority for issuance of such "cease and desist" orders was granted Finan by the Maryland Legislature at its last session.

A bill to regulate such firms was passed by the lawmaking body, but is not due to become effective until June 1.

Algeria Peace Talk Bid Made By De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle reopened the door to peace talks with the Algerian nationalist rebels Tuesday. He offered aid to a future Algeria associated with France and threatened reprisals should the North African territory go it alone.

In a statement on Algerian policy to a crowded news conference, the President said colonies were outmoded and too costly in the present world and spoke of a possible accord with the rebel regime.

He offered French economic, technical and financial aid to the future Algeria if its nine million Algerians choose a combination of full sovereignty in association with France on the model of Senegal.

In return, he said, France would want some military and naval bases in Algeria and guarantees for the one million Europeans in Algeria.

Should Algeria choose a complete rupture with France he threatened to expel 400,000 Algerians working in France and to urge the Frenchmen among the one million Europeans in Algeria to return home.

only an instrument "dragged into these actions by the state." Compared with the Nazi leaders tried by an international court at Nuernberg in 1946, said the attorney, Eichmann "cannot be measured by the same yardstick."

Eichmann, flanked by two blue-uniformed guards, listened with icy impassiveness. Apparently suffering from a slight cold, he frequently reached inside his left inside coat pocket for a handkerchief. The guards watched every movement.

Servatius, noting that Eichmann was seized in Buenos Aires and brought here on Israeli orders, contended all this was illegal.

Prosecutor Gideon Hausner, Israel's attorney general, responded swiftly to the defense contentions.

"If there are judges in the whole world who can be impartial about this crime, they are not fit to be judges," Hausner said.

"But it is right that judges conceal their own feelings and consider the evidence presented. That is how I request this court to pass judgment."

Youth Charged With Arson In D.C. School Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Maryland youth was charged Tuesday with housebreaking and arson in connection with a $100,000 fire that swept George Washington School in northeast Washington Sunday.

Police Capt. George E. Causey said James Proctor, 19, of Bradbury Heights, Md., a Washington suburb, admitted breaking into the school with two juveniles and then setting the fire.

The captain quoted Proctor as saying he set the fire because he was "mad" at schools.

The estimated $100,000 damage is based on the loss of 11 classrooms, school officials said. They added that the cost of razing and replacing the damaged portions of the structure, a grade school, would approach $400,000.

Officials Regret Color Incident At Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN (AP — Expressing regret over an incident in which an African diplomat was refused service at a local restaurant, city and county officials said Tuesday said the time had come for an acceptable policy on such matters.

Lem E. Kirk, president of the Washington County Board of Commissioners, said the lack of such a policy put restaurant owners "on the spot".

The Howard Johnson restaurant in Hagerstown — which last month refused service to William Fitzjohn, charge d'affairs for Sierra Leone, and his Negro driver because of their color — announced Monday it had changed its segregation policy.

Hagerstown Mayor Winslow F. Burhans said it was time "civil rights apply to the eating of meals in public places."

"I believe they should have been served," the mayor said. "There was little excuse for not serving them."

The incident was brought to the attention of the State Department at Washington just last week.

At Washington, the State Department said Tuesday it had been advised by Mayor Burhams that a Hagerstown citizens committee had invited Fitzjohn to return there as a guest of the city.

The State Department sent personal apologies to Fitzjohn for the incident and asked the Howard Johnson restaurant chain for an explanation of its policy.

Hagerstown Beltway Plans Set In Motion

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Washington County Board of Commissioners took steps Tuesday for start of construction of a beltway that will eventually encircle Hagerstown.

The commissioners voted to negotiate with the owners of lots along one narrow road north of the city which they plan to dualize.

Commission President Lem Kirk said "It is a mistake not to plan ahead and buy ahead when you have the chance."

When completed, the beltway will encircle the Hagerstown suburban area and connect with all roads leading from the city.

Court Upholds Attorney's Tax Deduction Claim

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A patient may deduct his living expenses, and that of his wife and children, from his federal income tax if he is ordered away from home by his physician, the 3rd U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled.

The court, splitting 2-1, upheld the claim of Robert M. Bilder, Newark, N. . attorney, who spent winters in Florida in 1954-55-56, on advice of his doctor, and then charged off transportation, lodging and food.

The Internal Revenue Service had allowed Bilder to deduct travel costs to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., but not the other expenses.

The U. S. Tax Court softened this ruling, permitting Bilder to deduct his own living expenses, but not those of his wife and young daughter.

Judge Harry E. Kalodner said it was a necessary part of Bilder's "medical care that his wife and child accompany him," and his wife "acted more or less as a nurse."

Idea Wins Man $32,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — A small copper strip, the three one-thousandths of an inch thick, has won a Baltimore man a $32,000 company award.

The International Business Machines Corp. announced the presentation Tuesday morning. It was one of more than 170,000 awards totaling $5.5 million which the firm has given employes during the past 10 years for suggestions adopted.

IBM bases the amount of the awards on a percentage of first-year savings to the company resulting from adoption of a suggestion.

The $32,000 award is believed to be the largest ever made to an individual in industry.

For Herbert F. Owens, the 36-year-old customer engineering systems specialist at IBM's Baltimore office who received it, the award is the fourth of its kind he has won. One was for $35 and the others for $25 each.

A quiet, unassuming person, Owens has had no formal technical training. His knowledge stems from training he received in the Navy plus in-service courses he has taken since he joined IBM in 1948.

The copper strip which Owens designed costs only 3 cents. The electronic computer for which it was fashioned costs up to $2.5 million.

The strip — or shim — gives more positive starting and braking action to the magnetic tape on which the machine is fed information. The tape moves at a speed of 112 inches a second and has 550 characters an inch. It must start and stop in five one-thousandths of a second. There is no room for error.

Swastika Painted On Jewish Temple

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A swastika was found painted in black enamel near the front entrance of a Jewish temple here Tuesday, police reported.

"It looks like somebody had to announce the Eichmann trial," said cantor Michael Soloway of the temple.

Court Upholds Attorney's Tax Deduction Claim

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A patient may deduct his living expenses, and that of his wife and children, from his federal income tax if he is ordered away from home by his physician, the 3rd U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled.

The court, splitting 2-1, upheld the claim of Robert M. Bilder, Newark, N. . attorney, who spent winters in Florida in 1954-55-56, on advice of his doctor, and then charged off transportation, lodging and food.

The Internal Revenue Service had allowed Bilder to deduct travel costs to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., but not the other expenses.

The U. S. Tax Court softened this ruling, permitting Bilder to deduct his own living expenses, but not those of his wife and young daughter.

Judge Harry E. Kalodner said it was a necessary part of Bilder's "medical care that his wife and child accompany him," and his wife "acted more or less as a nurse."

Idea Wins Man $32,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — A small copper strip, the three one-thousandths of an inch thick, has won a Baltimore man a $32,000 company award.

The International Business Machines Corp. announced the presentation Tuesday morning. It was one of more than 170,000 awards totaling $5.5 million which the firm has given employes during the past 10 years for suggestions adopted.

IBM bases the amount of the awards on a percentage of first-year savings to the company resulting from adoption of a suggestion.

The $32,000 award is believed to be the largest ever made to an individual in industry.

For Herbert F. Owens, the 36-year-old customer engineering systems specialist at IBM's Baltimore office who received it, the award is the fourth of its kind he has won. One was for $35 and the others for $25 each.

A quiet, unassuming person, Owens has had no formal technical training. His knowledge stems from training he received in the Navy plus in-service courses he has taken since he joined IBM in 1948.

The copper strip which Owens designed costs only 3 cents. The electronic computer for which it was fashioned costs up to $2.5 million.

The strip — or shim — gives more positive starting and braking action to the magnetic tape on which the machine is fed information. The tape moves at a speed of 112 inches a second and has 550 characters an inch. It must start and stop in five one-thousandths of a second. There is no room for error.

"It looks like somebody had to announce the Eichmann trial," said cantor Michael Soloway of the temple.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID's unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢ bringing up baby. hints

COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

It's easy enough to fall into the belief that the more food you stuff into baby, the better off he'll be. But pressure only serves to fix unpleasantness and distaste for a food in baby's mind. Most wee ones know their needs and eat enough to meet those needs. And if you provide nutritionally balanced meals there's nothing to worry about.

•

One good way to keep baby interested in his food, provide adequate nutrition too, is to vary menus with different kinds of food. It's easy with over 100 Gerber Strained and Junior Foods.

Model Gerber Menu
Chicken High Meat Dinner
Green Beans
Vanilla Custard Pudding
Topped with Peaches
Formula or Milk

All Gerber Baby Foods are specially processed to preserve the utmost in flavor and precious food values. All are designed with your baby's eating pleasure and nourishment in mind. The above foods are available in both strained and junior varieties.

Sock-a-roo story. To keep baby's socks from getting lost in the wash, try putting them in an old nylon stocking before you toss them into the machine. Suds swish through easily, and sorting is a cinch later.

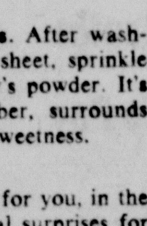
Sweet scent-iments. After washing baby's rubber sheet, sprinkle liberally with baby's powder. It's good for the rubber, surrounds your darling with sweetness.

•



New convenience for you, in the shape of two cereal surprises for baby: Gerber Strained Oatmeal or Mixed Cereal, both with Applesauce and Bananas. No mixing necessary! Each cereal is cooked with fruit and ready to serve. Delectable in flavor, they have a wonderfully smooth, moist texture. As for nutrition, they're both enriched with iron and important B-vitamins. bringing up baby. hints
COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

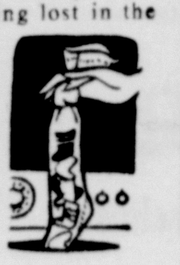
It's easy enough to fall into the belief that the more food you stuff into baby, the better off he'll be. But pressure only serves to fix unpleasantness and distaste for a food in baby's mind. Most wee ones know their needs and eat enough to meet those needs. And if you provide nutritionally balanced meals there's nothing to worry about.

One good way to keep baby interested in his food, provide adequate nutrition too, is to vary menus with different kinds of food. It's easy with over 100 Gerber Strained and Junior Foods.

Model Gerber Menu
Chicken High Meat Dinner
Green Beans
Vanilla Custard Pudding
Topped with Peaches
Formula or Milk

All Gerber Baby Foods are specially processed to preserve the utmost in flavor and precious food values. All are designed with your baby's eating pleasure and nourishment in mind. The above foods are available in both strained and junior varieties.

Sock-a-roo story. To keep baby's socks from getting lost in the wash, try putting them in an old nylon stocking before you toss them into the machine. Suds swish through easily, and sorting is a cinch later.



Sweet scent-iments. After washing baby's rubber sheet, sprinkle liberally with baby's powder. It's good for the rubber, surrounds your darling with sweetness.

New convenience for you, in the shape of two cereal surprises for baby: Gerber Strained Oatmeal or Mixed Cereal, both with Applesauce and Bananas. No mixing necessary! Each cereal is cooked with fruit and ready to serve. Delectable in flavor, they have a wonderfully smooth, moist texture. As for nutrition, they're both enriched with iron and important B-vitamins. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 NT	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Nine of ♥

The end play is the dramatic way for declarer to bring in a hand but, where the finesse, though lacking in glamor, figures to have the better chance, I'm all for it, as South might have reasoned in today's hand.

The nine of hearts was opened against the three no trump contract. East ducked and South won with the ten. Declarer's first play was the king of spades which East, perhaps unwisely, decided to take. He then established the heart suit by leading the ace and another. At this point it became mandatory to play West for the ace of diamonds, for if East had that card the contract was doomed.

Declarer, therefore, mentally projected an end play against West who, having shown with only two hearts, was likely to be long in spades. He cashed his four clubs and queen and jack of spades. Then in the hope that West had the ten of spades, he played the three. East, however, showed up with that card and claimed the balance.

Declarer's plan had been well conceived, but we feel a finessing program in diamonds would have been a superior selection. The play to build up a diamond trick will work in a great number of cases. The contemplated attack will fail whenever West has all three honors, and it will fail when East has both the queen and ten, but in the other cases, which are considerably more frequent, it will succeed.

The suggested play consists of leading the nine of diamonds from dummy. When East plays low, the nine is permitted to ride. If it forces the queen his troubles are over, but it loses to the ten and West gets out. On the next lead of diamonds, declarer intends to finesse against East's queen. When that card shows up, the day's toil is ended.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Give Yourself A Fitting

When a new suit doesn't fit as smoothly after a few wearings as it did at the start, perhaps it's not the suit, but your figure which needs alteration.

You were standing at your straightest best when you tried the suit on. Do you stand as straight all the time as you do when making a critical inspection in a dressing room mirror? Wrinkles that are missing in the back when shoulders are held correctly have a way of showing up immediately when shoulders sag. The bust curves that you filled in so nicely when you stood at attention deflate when your figure droops. And how did the skirt get so tight across the abdomen? The skirt still measures the same, but your posture doesn't measure up.

Wear the new suit and try to catch yourself in your customary stance in a full-length mirror. Now take the flaws out of your posture and see how this figure altering seems to alter the suit.

Start by raising your chest up, and up, as high as you can. Stand tall, head high, with the hunch gone from your shoulders. Now — aren't both bust and shoulder lines corrected already?

To ease the skirt over the abdomen, tilt the pelvic bones upward as you tighten abdominal muscles and pull the derriere up under your body at the same time. There — the skirt isn't too small after all, is it?

Nothing you wear should be tailored to faulty posture — faulty posture should be tailored to what you wear.

HEALTH AND SPARKLING PERSONALITY GO HAND IN HAND . . . and both add up to teen-age charm. "Personality Plus Through Diet," a new teen-slanted charm aid, gives you easy, scientific information to build a healthier, more personable you. The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 NT	Pass	2 NT

Opening lead: Nine of ♥

The end play is the dramatic way for declarer to bring in a hand but, where the finesse, though lacking in glamor, figures to have the better chance, I'm all for it, as South might have reasoned in today's hand.

The nine of hearts was opened against the three no trump contract. East ducked and South won with the ten. Declarer's first play was the king of spades which East, perhaps unwisely, decided to take. He then established the heart suit by leading the ace and another. At this point it became mandatory to play West for the ace of diamonds, for if East had that card the contract was doomed.

Declarer, therefore, mentally projected an end play against West who, having shown with only two hearts, was likely to be long in spades. He cashed his four clubs and queen and jack of spades. Then in the hope that West had the ten of spades, he played the three. East, however, showed up with that card and claimed the balance.

Declarer's plan had been well conceived, but we feel a finessing program in diamonds would have been a superior selection. The play to build up a diamond trick will work in a great number of cases. The contemplated attack will fail whenever West has all three honors, and it will fail when East has both the queen and ten, but in the other cases, which are considerably more frequent, it will succeed.

The suggested play consists of leading the nine of diamonds from dummy. When East plays low, the nine is permitted to ride. If it forces the queen his troubles are over, but it loses to the ten and West gets out. On the next lead of diamonds, declarer intends to finesse against East's queen. When that card shows up, the day's toil is ended.

John Humbird PTA To Hold Spring Festival

Mrs. Henry Pittman was nominated for president of the John Humbird School Parent-Teacher Association for the 1961-62 term at the last meeting.

The remaining slate of officers submitted by the nominating committee include Mrs. Joseph E. Jolley, vice president; Mrs. Doris Whiteman, secretary, and Francis Smith, treasurer.

Joseph E. Jolley presented tentative plans for a spring festival to be sponsored by the PTA on the school grounds in May.

Mrs. Barbara Riley, program chairman, introduced Miss Elizabeth I. Flake, elementary supervisor, who talked on homework. A question and answer period followed.

The program was concluded with two solos, "Ireland" and "Over the Rainbow" by Mrs. Robertine B. Murray accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Brady, members of the faculty. Mrs. Murray also directed group singing of seasonal songs.

Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee with Mrs. Vernon Nazelrod and Mrs. Vernon Stufft as co-chairmen.

Sixth grade mothers, under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Parks and Mrs. Jack Thompson sponsored a candy sale.

Bonnie and Randy Olinger and Jane Howdershell, members of the Girl Scout troop sponsored by the school, accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Lewis, troop leader, led the flag salute.

Prior to the meeting, teachers met parents in classrooms to discuss the National Education Association publication, "How Parents Can Help Johnny Read."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Give Yourself A Fitting

When a new suit doesn't fit as smoothly after a few wearings as it did at the start, perhaps it's not the suit, but your figure which needs alteration.

You were standing at your straightest best when you tried the suit on. Do you stand as straight all the time as you do when making a critical inspection in a dressing room mirror? Wrinkles that are missing in the back when shoulders are held correctly have a way of showing up immediately when shoulders sag. The bust curves that you filled in so nicely when you stood at attention deflate when your figure droops. And how did the skirt get so tight across the abdomen? The skirt still measures the same, but your posture doesn't measure up.

Wear the new suit and try to catch yourself in your customary stance in a full-length mirror. Now take the flaws out of your posture and see how this figure altering seems to alter the suit.

Start by raising your chest up, and up, as high as you can. Stand tall, head high, with the hunch gone from your shoulders. Now — aren't both bust and shoulder lines corrected already?

To ease the skirt over the abdomen, tilt the pelvic bones upward as you tighten abdominal muscles and pull the derriere up under your body at the same time. There — the skirt isn't too small after all, is it?

Nothing you wear should be tailored to faulty posture — faulty posture should be tailored to what you wear.

Potomac Council Leaders Plan Dinner Here April 27

Adult leaders of Potomac Council of Boy Scouts will gather in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Cumberland, on Thursday, April 27, for what may be one oi the largest Scout council dinner meetings ever held in the Queen City.

J. Carson Dowell, general chairman of the dinner program, has announced that the Potomac Council's annual Scout Leaders Appreciation Dinner will take place at that time with 750 adult scouters from all parts of the council's six-county two-state area expected to attend.

Plans are being completed for a nationally known figure to be the featured speaker at the dinner.

An additional highlight of the dinner will be the award of several Silver Beaver awards to adult scouters in the council. This is the highest award that may be made by a Scout council and is given for exceptional and distinguished service to boyhood within the jurisdiction of an area Council.

Recipients in 1960 were Charles Park of Petersburg, and Ivan A. Hall, Clarence Lippel and James C. Warden of Cumberland.

In a novel twist for such a dinner, Dowell explained that the annual dinner meeting at 7 p.m., would be a "potluck" or "covered dish" affair with every individual or family attending being asked to bring one item of food sufficient for about ten persons. Reservations will be made by unit with ten persons in a unit. Thus, with cooperation and some "scout ingenuity" it is expected that a balanced meal will be available for all participants.

Each table will be individually decorated by the unit using it, and all persons must bring their own eating utensils—paper plates, knife, fork and spoon. A slight cover charge will also be made to defray incidental dinner expenses.

The Potomac Boy Scouts Council is composed of the Nemacolin, Tri-Valley and Deep Creek districts and includes over 30 communities with scout units in the counties of Allegany and Garrett in Maryland, and Mineral, Hampshire, Grant and Hardy in West Virginia.

Plan Reunion

Members of the Class of 1951 of Allegany High School will meet today at 8 p. m. in the school to further plans for a reunion.

Action Delayed On Traffic Light

When the proposal to install a traffic light at the intersection of McMullen Highway and Winchester Road in Cresaptown came up at yesterday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners a dispute over how the county would pay for the device resulted.

Commissioner John T. Mason made a motion for the installation of the light with the county's share of $1,000 being assessed against the Roads Department. The state would pay $3,000 of the $4,000 total cost.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said he was in favor of installing the light but did not want it placed against the Roads Department. Mason said that in the event the Roads Department budget went into the red then the money could be taken from the contingent fund at the end of the next fiscal year. Rowan wanted the money taken from the contingent fund at once.

Commissioner William A. Wilson stated that he would not decide how he would vote until the next meeting. Wilson commented: "'Both of you are essentially correct, it is only the procedure in which you differ. I'll wait to see if you both can agree on the matter."

Rowan also said that other requests for traffic lights will probably be received for the intersection of Route 40 in LaVale where a road leads into Parkside School.

Rowan and Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, will go to Hagerstown today to confer with an engineering firm which is drawing up plans for the Oliver Beltz Road project under matching funds. Following this meeting the two men will go to Jessups to look over surplus federal equipment and furnishings which the county may be able to obtain.

Area Business Places Entered

Three business establishments in Keyser have been burglarized within the past few days.

The latest entry occurred Monday at the Royale Restaurant where a small amount of change was stolen. The entry was discovered by Angelo Citarelli, owner, when he reported for work.

Also burglarized were Kemp's Place on Armstrong Street, and Marty's Place, also on Armstrong Street. A small amount of money was stolen from each place.

Ambassadors Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday named John Scott Everton, a Ford Foundation executive, as U.S. ambassador to Burma.

Kennedy also announced his intention to nominate John A. Calhoun, a career diplomat, as U.S. ambassador to the Republic of Chad.

John Adams was America's first ambassador to England.

Popp Appeal Case Held Over By Court

The appeal case of Thomas L. Popp, city, from a year's sentence on a charge of maintaining a property on North Lee Street which is a fire and health hazard, was ordered held over yesterday in Circuit Court.

Popp owns a building which was formerly a grocery store and it is boarded up. City officials claim it is rat-infested and poses a fire hazard. Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt gave Popp a year in jail and an appeal was taken to Circuit Court.

When the matter was brought up before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris today it was found that the procedure in handling the charges was faulty. The court remarked that the county health officer had not filed a notice as is required in such cases.

Gorman E. Getty was acting city attorney in the case.

Potomac Council Leaders Plan Dinner Here April 27

Adult leaders of Potomac Council of Boy Scouts will gather in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Cumberland, on Thursday, April 27, for what may be one of the largest Scout council dinner meetings ever held in the Queen City.

J. Carson Dowell, general chairman of the dinner program, has announced that the Potomac Council's annual Scout Leaders Appreciation Dinner will take place at that time with 750 adult scouters from all parts of the council's six-county two-state area expected to attend.

Plans are being completed for a nationally known figure to be the featured speaker at the dinner.

An additional highlight of the dinner will be the award of several Silver Beaver awards to adult scouters in the council. This is the highest award that may be made by a Scout council and is given for exceptional and distinguished service to boyhood within the jurisdiction of an area Council.

Recipients in 1960 were Charles Park of Petersburg, and Ivan A. Hall, Clarence Lippel and James C. Warden of Cumberland.

In a novel twist for such a dinner, Dowell explained that the annual dinner meeting at 7 p.m., would be a "potluck" or "covered dish" affair with every individual or family attending being asked to bring one item of food sufficient for about ten persons. Reservations will be made by unit with ten persons in a unit. Thus, with cooperation and some "scout ingenuity" it is expected that a balanced meal will be available for all participants.

Each table will be individually decorated by the unit using it, and all persons must bring their own eating utensils—paper plates, knife, fork and spoon. A slight cover charge will also be made to defray incidental dinner expenses.

The Potomac Boy Scouts Council is composed of the Nemacolin, Tri-Valley and Deep Creek districts and includes over 30 communities with scout units in the counties of Allegany and Garrett in Maryland, and Mineral, Hampshire, Grant and Hardy in West Virginia.

Popp Appeal Case Held Over By Court

The appeal case of Thomas L. Popp, city, from a year's sentence on a charge of maintaining a property on North Lee Street which is a fire and health hazard, was ordered held over yesterday in Circuit Court.

Popp owns a building which was formerly a grocery store and it is boarded up. City officials claim it is rat-infested and poses a fire hazard. Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt gave Popp a year in jail and an appeal was taken to Circuit Court.

When the matter was brought up before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris today it was found that the procedure in handling the charges was faulty. The court remarked that the county health officer had not filed a notice as is required in such cases.

Gorman E. Getty was acting city attorney in the case.

Experts estimate that two billion people in the world are hungry every day, all day. The undernourished are figured at more than 75 per cent of the human race.

PROMOTED—Paul F. O'Hara, 611 Sedgwick Street, has been promoted to plant accountant at the Celanese Fiber Company's Lanese plant at Burlington, N. C., according to an announcement yesterday by W. E. Crooks, Amcelle plant manager. Prior to his promotion Mr. O'Hara was an accountant in the cost accounting department at the local plant. Mr. O'Hara's wife and three children will join him at Lanese when housing arrangements are completed.

Plan Reunion

Members of the Class of 1951 of Allegany High School will meet today at 8 p. m. in the school to further plans for a reunion.

Action Delayed On Traffic Light

When the proposal to install a traffic light at the intersection of McMullen Highway and Winchester Road in Cresaptown came up at yesterday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners a dispute over how the county would pay for the device resulted.

Commissioner John T. Mason made a motion for the installation of the light with the county's share of $1,000 being assessed against the Roads Department. The state would pay $3,000 of the $4,000 total cost.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said he was in favor of installing the light but did not want it placed against the Roads Department. Mason said that in the event the Roads Department budget went into the red then the money could be taken from the contingent fund at the end of the next fiscal year. Rowan wanted the money taken from the contingent fund at once.

Commissioner William A. Wilson stated that he would not decide how he would vote until the next meeting. Wilson commented: "'Both of you are essentially correct, it is only the procedure in which you differ. I'll wait to see if you both can agree on the matter."

Rowan also said that other requests for traffic lights will probably be received for the intersection of Route 40 in LaVale where a road leads into Parkside School.

Rowan and Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, will go to Hagerstown today to confer with an engineering firm which is drawing up plans for the Oliver Beltz Road project under matching funds. Following this meeting the two men will go to Jessups to look over surplus federal equipment and furnishings which the county may be able to obtain.

Area Business Places Entered

Three business establishments in Keyser have been burglarized within the past few days.

The latest entry occurred Monday at the Royale Restaurant where a small amount of change was stolen. The entry was discovered by Angelo Citarelli, owner, when he reported for work.

Also burglarized were Kemp's Place on Armstrong Street, and Marty's Place, also on Armstrong Street. A small amount of money was stolen from each place.

Ambassadors Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday named John Scott Everton, a Ford Foundation executive, as U.S. ambassador to Burma.

Kennedy also announced his intention to nominate John A. Calhoun, a career diplomat, as U.S. ambassador to the Republic of Chad.

John Adams was America's first ambassador to England.

Winter-Damaged Roads Are In Good Shape Now

State Roads Commission crews are making permanent repairs to winter-damaged highways in Allegany and Washington counties.

The final phase of such repair work in Garrett County will have to wait until the weather clears.

But John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer, said that Edward P. Kahl, resident maintenance engineer for Garrett County, reports that he doubts if the winter damage there will be anything more than the normal frost boils and pot holes which can be expected to develop after a severe winter.

Temporary repairs have been made as trouble spots develop.

Mr. Bushby said George B. Hale, maintenance engineer for Allegany County, and Ralph T. Thayer, for Washington County, report that highways are in good shape.

Maintenance crews, Mr. Bushby said, are making permanent patches over temporary repairs.

All of the pot holes and frost boils were filled in several weeks ago and were considered stable enough for surfacing with permanent patching material.

Three County SCS Work Units Meeting Here

A two-day meeting of work unit conservationists for Soil Conservation Service in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties is being held at the local SCS office at the Post Office.

The meeting, which began yesterday, is being conducted by M. F. Hershberger, state soil scientist, and M. B. Fussell, state soil conservationist, both of College Park along with Boyd Garland, soil correlator for North East states, SCS, of Ithaca, N. Y.

The purpose of the meeting is to develop a technical guide, assembling technical information that applies specifically to the conservation of soil, water, plants and wildlife resources of the work unit for which it is prepared and which is used by service technicians in assisting land owner and operators in planning, applying and maintaining conservation measures on their lands. The guide also will reflect cost and return information on use of the conservation practices.

These three county units are the first in the state to begin assembling the guide, and they expect to use the balance of the year developing it. The national goal for completion is June 1962. The three county work units will be assigned specific tasks to carry out the work.

Work unit conservationists attending the meeting are William W. Nace, Oakland; Paul Anderson, Hagerstown, and Martin M. Gordon, Cumberland. Others attending are Kenneth M. Stone, soil scientist, Cumberland, and Rhea T. Kincaid, management agronomist, SCS, Hagerstown.

Valley Road Man Injured In Crash

Durward B. Graham, 41, of RFD 3, Valley Road, was reported still in "serious" condition last night at Sacred Heart Hospital where he was admitted early yesterday following a collision on U. S. Route 220 in Cresaptown.

Trooper C. Richard Mauzy said Mr. Graham was the operator of a vehicle which rammed into a parked car along Route 220.

The Valley Road man sustained severe scalp lacerations and possible chest injuries. The accident occurred about 3:30 a. m. as Mr. Graham was returning home from work at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Trooper Mauzy said Mr. Graham apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car.

Bi-County Meeting To Be Tomorrow

Police Probe Temple Fire

Police are investigating a fire late Monday night at the Masonic Temple on Greene Street which is a possible case of arson.

The blaze had a "fair start" when it was discovered at 11 p. m., according to City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey, who said that Masonic members who were at a meeting detected the odor of smoke.

He said Monday's night fire started on the second floor and was discovered in a ladies lounge. Someone apparently had set fire to a set of drapes on a north side window facing Washington Street.

The burning drapes dropped to the floor and started a blaze on a carpet. Also burning were the window sash and drapes on another window. Firemen from Central station were called.

On October 23 a blaze was started in the Temple basement. Three months later police arrested a local teen-ager who admitted the attempted arson and is currently serving time.

Court Hears Appeals For Separate Trials

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Three of five Hardy County men, charged with complicity in the death of a man near Moorefield, are seeking separate trials. But Hardy County Circuit Judge H. Gus Muntzing insists they should be tried jointly.

The judge made the observation Tuesday at a hearing before the State Supreme Court on a petition by Wilson C. Zirk of Old Fields for a separate trial. Similar petitions were filed Tuesday by two of the other four defendants, Junior B. Miley and Page Weese.

Others indicted were John Rexroad and Nolan Shreve. All are charged with conspiracy to commit murder as a result of the death near Moorefield last year of a northern Virginia salesman.

Muntzing's brief, filed with the high court, contends "the right to a separate trial is one which tests in the sound discretion of the trial court."

Zirk was tried last December on a murder charge in the death of salesman Floridge Ritter, 33, Stephens City, Va., but the trial ended in a hung jury. He and the four other men were then indicted in February on six felony counts, but five were quashed, leaving only the conspiracy charge.

Police said Ritter died from loss of blood after his arm had been repeatedly pulled across a jagged section of broken window in his car following a drinking party with the defendants near Moorefield last fall.

Shell test drivers add a "fifth wheel" to their cars for precise distance measurement during mileage tests. It helps them record performance to a decimal point.

BULLETIN:

Shell discloses the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell—and the remarkable things they do to give your car top performance

Super Shell gasoline, with 9 ingredients, is now at your dealer's. Today's formula contains cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate—a new, improved version of TCP. Read how this patented additive increases mileage, releases power, and helps your car give top performance.

TODAY, every Shell dealer in this area has remarkable Super Shell in his pumps.

A notice on each Super Shell pump promises you that this gasoline will give your car top performance.

Shell's scientists want you to know about the nine ingredients which make this promise possible.

#1 is TCP for power, mileage and longer plug-life

Today's Super Shell now contains an even better version of this world-famous additive. Its chemical name is cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more power; up to 17 extra miles per tankful; and can make spark plugs last up to twice as long.*

New TCP does this by neutralizing certain effects of combustion deposits. It is scientifically formulated to keep them from glowing when hot—a major cause of power loss. Also from diverting your spark—a major cause of "missing."

#2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—a chemical substance that can alter molecules without changing itself.

#3 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer this high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—which took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds far better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: The engine in your car may frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7 at cruising speed. Think of this next time you are passing on the highway.

#4 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

So they insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

#5 is Butane for quick starts on cold mornings

Butane is so eager to get going that Shell keeps it under pressure 400 feet below ground to stop it from vaporizing by itself. Think what this extra volatility means in cold weather.

Your engine fires in seconds. There is less strain on your battery. And none on your patience.

NOTE: Super Shell is primed with Butane all year round. In winter, Shell scientists simply increase the quick-start dose.

#6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

#7 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted up to eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can stall your engine.

#8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors and foul automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. No gum problems.

#9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

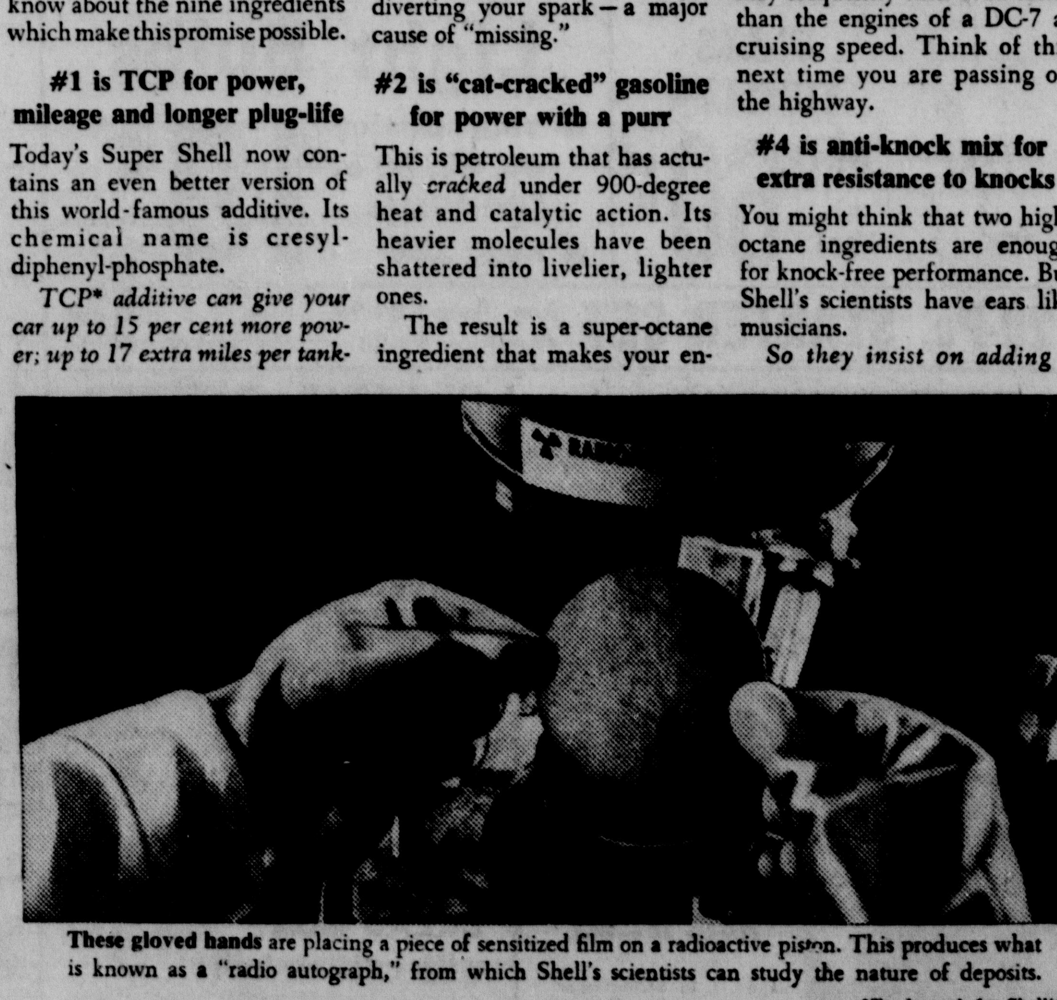
These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than 100-octane gasoline. Energy that shows up as mileage.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.

SHELL

A BULLETIN FROM SHELL RESEARCH
—where 1,997 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.



These gloved hands are placing a piece of sensitized film on a radioactive piston. This produces what is known as a "radio autograph," from which Shell's scientists can study the nature of deposits.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2889212

Others indicted were John Rexroad and Nolan Shreve. All are charged with conspiracy to commit murder as a result of the death near Moorefield last year of a northern Virginia salesman.

Muntzing's brief, filed with the high court, contends "the right to a separate trial is one which tests in the sound discretion of the trial court."

Zirk was tried last December on a murder charge in the death of salesman Floridge Ritter, 33, Stephens City, Va., but the trial ended in a hung jury. He and the four other men were then indicted in February on six felony counts, but five were quashed, leaving only the conspiracy charge.

Police said Ritter died from loss of blood after his arm had been repeatedly pulled across a jagged section of broken window in his car following a drinking party with the defendants near Moorefield last fall.

Shell test drivers add a "fifth wheel" to their cars for precise distance measurement during mileage tests. It helps them record performance to a decimal point.

BULLETIN:

Shell discloses the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell—and the remarkable things they do to give your car top performance

Super Shell gasoline, with 9 ingredients, is now at your dealer's. Today's formula contains cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate—a new, improved version of TCP. Read how this patented additive increases mileage, releases power, and helps your car give top performance.

TODAY, every Shell dealer in this area has remarkable Super Shell in his pumps.

A notice on each Super Shell pump promises you that this gasoline will give your car top performance.

Shell's scientists want you to know about the nine ingredients which make this promise possible.

#1 is TCP for power, mileage and longer plug-life

Today's Super Shell now contains an even better version of this world-famous additive. Its chemical name is cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more power; up to 17 extra miles per tankful; and can make spark plugs last up to twice as long.*

New TCP does this by neutralizing certain effects of combustion deposits. It is scientifically formulated to keep them from glowing when hot—a major cause of power loss. Also from diverting your spark—a major cause of "missing."

#2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—a chemical substance that can alter molecules without changing itself.

#3 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer this high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—which took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds far better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: The engine in your car may frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7 at cruising speed. Think of this next time you are passing on the highway.

#4 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

So they insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

#5 is Butane for quick starts on cold mornings

Butane is so eager to get going that Shell keeps it under pressure 400 feet below ground to stop it from vaporizing by itself. Think what this extra volatility means in cold weather.

Your engine fires in seconds. There is less strain on your battery. And none on your patience.

NOTE: Super Shell is primed with Butane all year round. In winter, Shell scientists simply increase the quick-start dose.

#6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

#7 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted up to eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can stall your engine.

#8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors and foul automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. No gum problems.

#9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than 100-octane gasoline. Energy that shows up as mileage.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.

No Place For The Unwary

Upsurge in stock trading has moved Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, to warn unwary would-be investors that Wall Street is no place to get something for nothing.

Mr. Funston's concern is understandable. Doubtless there is disquieting evidence of a great deal of unsophisticated trading in little known companies, especially those employing the glamorous "onics" in their corporate names. His advice is sound: exercise the same care in buying stocks that is used in purchasing a house.

And yet only three months ago Mr. Funston's concern was in the opposite direction. He thought there wasn't enough trading and suggested the Federal Reserve Board reduce the stock margin requirement from 70 to 50 per cent. At that time daily trading volume averaged four million shares, enough to keep most brokers happy.

The market has, without benefit of a margin reduction, reached a state of high fluidity the exchange head now finds altogether undesirable.

Of course, any market activity that draws unusual attention from the public also attracts the interest of regulatory agencies and Congress, as was the case in 1955 when hectic trading and tipster activity resulted in a Senate investigation.

But neither the SEC nor Congress can do much in protecting a novice from his innocence in the ways of the market.

Politics And Olympics

The Olympic games are presumed to be the acme of universal sports. But in recent years, the Olympics have become involved in politics, those who manage the games assuming to do what all the diplomacy of the entire world and the United Nations has been unable to do, namely, to decide what is China.

You may recall the television show of the Rome Olympics, when the delegation from Formosa carried a sign stating their protest against being regarded as Formosa, which, of course, they are not. Their proper title is the Republic of China and they are so recognized by the United Nations.

But it seems that the Marquess of Exeter, a great British sportsman, favors Red Chinese participation in the Olympics. He has been quarrelling over this with General John Grombach, an American athlete who wanted to know why the Britisher was so excited about getting Red China in. So he hired an investigating agency in England to give him the low-down on the Marquess. This offended the Marquess, who adopts the position that he is emotionally a just man only interested in athletics.

However, it was found that the Marquess of Exeter is an excellent businessman who is a bank director and is also in many firms which have business with Soviet countries. The Marquess is a distinguished athlete, better known as Lord Burghley, and has gained many honors. However, the British Who's Who lists him as associated with numerous businesses, including the National Provincial Bank, Ltd., which acts as correspondent for Soviet and Red Chinese banks.

The conflict therefore is between the British view that Red China is China and the American view that the Republic of China is China. The Olympic Committee cannot solve this difference of opinion and has no business to become involved in it.

The British press has taken an interest in the controversy, particularly playing up the fact that General Grombach employed a "Private Eye" to discover who the Marquess of Exeter really is. There is not secret about that. As Lord Burghley, he achieved a distinguished career as a hurdler. The British press ridiculed the attack on Exeter as a Red-hunting which, of course, it was not. Besides, why not hunt Reds?

All of this is not of very great significance. What is important is that the Olympic Committee is attempting to settle a political question. It might be suggested that as the British recognize Red China, they are entitled to promote the Red China cause in the Olympics. On the other hand, the nations which reject Red China would then be justified in boycotting the Olympic games if the Red Chinese were admitted. Red China is a moral and emotional problem. However, the games were not organized for this sort of politics. They ought to keep out of politics and propaganda altogether. It is stepping out of line when they attempt to make a political decision.

Therefore the Olympic Committee ought to conform to the listing of nations by the United Nations. That would settle the entire business. It is, by international treaty, the proper body to prepare such a list. Neither the Marquess of Exeter nor General Grombach is empowered to recognize or to refuse to recognize a nation. Nor is the Olympic Committee empowered to do anything of the sort. To avoid just such a controversy as has arisen the Olympic Committee should mind its own business.

This is one of these peculiar little questions which makes for lots of trouble between nations and certainly neither Great Britain nor the United States needs to fight over this at the present time. The Marquess may feel that he is a great authority on international relations but it does no good to get excited about Red China which did not show up at Rome anyhow and is not likely to until that country is recognized by the United Nations and the United States. It would be more sporting to fight this battle where it belongs, in the United Nations arena, and not in the Olympic Committee, the members of which are no great shakes as politicians and diplomats. Besides, the Red China question may have to be settled by war some day.

In a statement the learned Marquess said that there is only one China, namely, Peking. "As far as Taiwan is concerned we could also recognize an administration if it were under a different name hence giving up the term of China."

To an American, of course, this is nonsense.

Ceasefire Cause For Apprehension In Laos

By Joseph Alsop

VIENTIANE, Laos

Every sensible person in this little city, who has either Laotian or Western interests at heart, looks forward to the new phase of the Laos crisis with extreme concern and apprehension.

If you are several thousand miles away from Laos, it may seem very hopeful indeed that a ceasefire seems likely and that negotiations are expected to begin. But if you are in Laos, the new phase looks just about as dangerous as the phase that is now coming to a close.

To begin with, the Communist forces here, with the assistance of lavish Soviet supplies and large numbers of invaders from North Vietnam, have occupied far too large a part of Laos.

The position is much worse than in 1954, when the Geneva accord left the Communist Pathet Lao movement in control of the two northern provinces, Phong Saly and Samneua.

That was bad enough, as experience proved. But a ceasefire now will presumably leave the Communists in control of these two frontier provinces, plus important bits of other provinces, plus the whole of Xien Kuang province with the Plaine des Jarres and the important Xien Kuang airfield.

Their hold on Xien Kuang gives the Communists a grip on the strategic heart of Laos.

It is wishful nonsense to talk about a stable, truly neutral Laos as long as the Communists retain military control of the heart of the country. It is just as wishful to imagine that a Communist pullback can be arranged by the eloquent persuasions of an Indian chairman of a restored Internatoinal Control Commission. In fact it is hard to imagine any Communist pullback at all, except under threat of force or as a result of actual military pressure.

Thus the situation on the ground is very grave indeed. Yet there are reasons for believing that the general political situation is even worse. To understand why this is so, one must look at the origins of the present Laos crisis and the singular response of the Eisenhower administration.

In particular, one must look at the coup d'etat of Capt. Kong Le and the subsequent assumption of the Premiership by Prince Souvanna Phouma. The coup installed a neutral government, or at any rate a "neutralist" government in Laos. The British, the French, and even the American Embassy here recommended acceptance of this accomplished fact.

The Eisenhower administration rejected this recommendation, and persevered in its earlier policy of promoting a pro-Western Laotian government. With open American support, Marshal Phoumi drove Kong Le, Prince Souvanna, and their collaborators out of Vientiane. This would have been perfectly defensible if the Eisenhower administration had meanwhile steeled itself for the possible consequences of its own decision.

Instead, the Eisenhower administration seemed to be taken wholly by surprise when the quite foresssable consequences ensued. The Soviets and Communist North Vietnamese jumped into Laos with both feet. All Marshal Phoumi's gains and more were lost. But the American government, which had been so bloody, bold, and resolute before, was now flaccidly impotent.

After these events, Prince Souvanna Phouma is probably the last remaining truly neutral important personality in Laos, if indeed his claims on this point can be believed. In order to see why this is so, it is only necessary to consider the recent experience of the next most important figure in the former Souvanna Phouma government, the able non-Communist leftist Qinim Bolsena.

Qinim, a man with a large chip on his shoulder, came into office as the result of a severe setback for American policy. He was driven out again at the point of American guns. He has now been carried back toward power again, so to say, on the shoulders of Communist armed forces. Who should be surprised if there is much first hand evidence that Qinim and all the other men like him are now ten times more bitterly anti-Western as well as rather actively and openly pro-Communist.

There are one or two shreds of more hopeful evidence, such as the report that Kong Le has fallen out with his Communist partners, and has been pushed around by them. But it is still likely that in the present circumstances this kind of government is virtually certain to give the Communists effective control of Laos before very long.

Such are the general characteristics of the pickle we're in here. It may be, of course, that President Kennedy's handling of the Laos crisis has been designed to mask a gradual but decisive retreat behind a show of firmness. But if the President means what he says about the fatal effects of Communist control of Laos, he is going to have to show a great deal more firmness, and to be infinitely dexterous too, in order to achieve the truly neutral Laos he has been talking about.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

BABY SITTER — Some ladies' tongues are wagging in Washington about the way the First Lady seems to be using her busy President-husband as a baby sitter.

On some trips to Palm Springs and to New York, Jacqueline Kennedy left daughter Caroline behind at the White House. The little girl also has been left at the official residence on occasions when "Jackie" and infant son, John Jr., have been at Glen Ora, their rented country hide-away in nearby Virginia.

On these occasions, Caroline seems to have the run of the White House and apparently delights in dropping in on the President while he is at work in the White House offices.

Actually, the occasions seem more frequent than they are as each of them is widely publicized. Further, they represent no change in the normal Kennedy household routine, where close family relationships are encouraged despite the extremely busy schedule of the adults.

Besides, President Kennedy wants to make up for his long months away from home while seeking the Presidential nomination and campaigning for the Presidency.

ONE OF THE BOYS—President Kennedy's famed humor serves him in good stead in his relations with Congress. He mingles well with the members and never plays the role of the Great Man.

One device he is using to keep on good terms with "The Hill" is to hold a series of "coffee hours" with small Congressional groups where he can mingle informally with the legislators.

At one of these, Rep. Wayne Hays, Ohio Democrat, amused Kennedy by assuring him that he didn't plan to run for the presidency in 1964. Hays said his six-year-old daughter had urged him not to because she didn't want to move into the White House and leave all her friends.

Kennedy had a good laugh, and then brought down the house by commeting: "That's not the problem I have with Caroline. My problem is to keep her from holding press conferences."

Minimum Wage Bill Battle Hangs On Amendment Limiting Coverage

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — D-Day in the minimum wage battle comes tomorrow and the crucial amendment will be that introduced by Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, limiting coverage of the act to establishments which do business in two or more states. The Senate bill, as now written, exempts establishments doing less than $1,000,000 a year regardless of whether they operate interstate.

The author of the crucial amendment, Mike Monroney, used to operate a large furniture store in Oklahoma City, doing more than $1,000,000 of business a year but not in interstate commerce. So at first it was thought Mike, a respected Senator, had a conflict of interest by promoting this amendment.

Rule 12 of the Senate requires a Senator to abstain from voting when his personal business is affected by that vote. The other Senator from Oklahoma, genial Bob Kerr, the big oilman, has not hesitated to vote, speak, and lobby when oil-gas legislation is at stake. However, this column has now ascertained that Monroney has sold all the stock in his furniture store and neither he nor his wife has any interest in it.

His conflict-of-interest skirts therefore appear to be clean.

Two Conflicting Senators

Two other Senators, however, are in a unique position. They are:

Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican, whose family owns three Arizona department stores, including the biggest between Dallas and Los Angeles. They do far more than $1,000,000 a year but are not in interstate business.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, Rhode Island Democrat, whose mother-in-law is probably the single biggest stockholder in the gaint A and P chain stores, founded by Mrs. Pell's great-grandfather, George Hartford.

The chain stores generally have been lobbying against the Minimum Wage Act. So have the big department store owners and the retail associations. However, here is how these two Senators will vote on the minimum wage act:

Goldwater will vote for his family's pocketbook interest and for the Monroney amendment which would exempt his department stores from coverage. Arizona is among the lowest in the nation in minimum wage coverage, but the Senator from Arizona will also vote for other crippling amendments. As he stated on the Senate floor to then Sen. Kennedy of Massachusetts last summer: "I will do everything in my power to help defeat these proposals."

Pell will vote against his family's pocketbook interest, for the Minimum Wage Bill and for all amendments to strengthen it. "We ought to make it (the minimum wage) 100 per cent in Rhode Island and throughout the nation," says Sen. Pell.

U. S. $$ Abroad

Otto Passman, the nickel-nursing Congressman from Louisiana, has just come back from his annual Easter trip to Paris, Madrid, and points between for the purpose of scrutinizing foreign aid expenditures.

Although a junket of sorts, it should be noted that the Congressman works hard on these trips and if the State Department listened more to his admonitions for efficiency there would not be such a hassle over foreign aid appropriations.

One of the most important jobs Kennedy faces is to enlist new, dedicated personnel to administer foreign aid. There are still a lot of fine public servants in the program, but they have been so diluted and so discouraged that the spit and polish of the original Marshall Plan has worn off. It needs to be refurbished.

For instance, Carter de Paul, U. S. aid director in Laos, was singled out by the House Government Operations Committee for selling "his 1947 Cadillac upon his departure from Laos to Gerald A. Peabody, head of Universal Construction Co. (which did a lot of government business in Laos) at an inflated price . . . The vehicle was inoperable, and shortly thereafter it was cut up and the pieces dropped down an abandoned well. In the interim it had stood in front of Universal's office where it was the subject of scornful amusement by Laotians and Americans alike."

The same Carter de Paul is now head of the investment development division of ICA with the job of encouraging private enterprise abroad. A plan was put before him recently to create unused local currencies, accumulated through the sale of U. S. surplus food abroad, to work as a reinsurance fund to underwrite local small businesses. It was argued that foreign countries could do with less U. S. dollars if these local blocked currencies could be used. Mr. de Paul, however, turned the idea down.

Nickel-Nursing Tirades

These are some of the things that make the Congressman from Louisiana go on his nickel-nursing tirades. It's understandable. However, Passman is now about to do a less understandable disservice to the Kennedy program in Latin America. Today he begins marking up the appropriation bill for the $500,000,000 Development Loan Fund plus the $100,000,000 of foreign aid for Latin America.

And Otto is planning to lop off the latter $100,000,000. What he doesn't realize is that this total package for Latin America is peanuts compared with the $4 billion pumped into the rest of the world annually. Latin America is a vast continent, with great opportunities for development, and great political tides that could turn against the USA.

If the proposed Kennedy appropriation is now cut, thanks to the well-intentioned economy of Otto Passman, those tides will turn even more against us.

Meanwhile, Henry Labouisse, Kennedy's new Foreign Aid Director, should pump some new personnel blood into foreign aid.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The Soviet Union, as a phenomenon of the 20th century, will be the first to go down in history as a predatory nation with no honor. The Caesars, at their worst, had some. So did the Huns, the ancient Persians and, of course, the Greeks. The only nation that approaches the Soviets in lack of integrity is Adolf Hitler's Germany, but he lasted only 12 years.

The Russian Revolutionary Government has been in power 43 years. It grows stronger, not weaker, and its goal has remained fixed: Communist domination of the world. The Russian bear lumbers slowly across the snows of time. Ahead, the western powers in their droshky toss the bear a baby nation now and then to slow him down, but his appetite is insatiable.

He stops for a moment to kill and digest, but he moves on at a trot, never tiring, never frightened, always closing in. The ideology of the Soviets is godless intellect coupled with national aggrandizement. Whatever adds to the power of Russia is good for all.

The sun has set on all the major empires of the West; now it rises in the East. The Communists control a land mass from the Arctic Ocean to Malaya, from Anadyr peninsula to Berlin — the Caesars of Rome never had an empire like that. It will grow bigger before it starts to shrink.

It was Andrei Vishinsky, prosecutor in the purge trials of 1934, who listened to an unhappy defendant confess that he had been friendly with the Germans because "our policy was to be friendly, at the time." Vishinsky chuckled. He shook his head as though such stupidity was beyond him. "Do you not know," he shouted, "that, no matter what the public policy of the moment, true socialism cannot live with any other system of government? The working class must establish governments in every nation. Has this not been the unfailing, unchanging policy of Marx and Lenin and Stalin?"

It has. Anyone who says that the West can negotiate with the East is naive. Negotiation in Laos, in Berlin, in Korea — anywhere in the world — must result in a Soviet advantage or there will be no agreement. The game, as the West plays it, is to see how cheaply the bear can be bought for a moment's peace.

The Russians fight with new weapons: propaganda and economics. For a young nation, they use these two well. They have beaten us so many times in the field of propaganda that now, when a new crisis develops, the world does not look to Washington for a solution; it turns to Moscow.

These are clever weapons, well honed, and they win battles without sacrificing Russian lives. The Soviets take a chunk of territory here, enslave a few million people there, win a concession somewhere else, and all the time they keep the world in such a chronic state of fright that the West spends more and more, trying to be ready.

The propaganda weapon may not kill us, but the economic one can. Our defense spending this year will come to $43 billion. Each American wage earner will owe $683 for missiles and planes and warships alone. This is an enormous sum for an average man to owe his government each year. It will grow greater because the policy of the Soviet Government is to keep feinting the Untied States toward heavier armament while the Russians hold two keys: One to war, one to peace.

It is not necessary for them to put either one in the door of history. They can jangle them, and achieve notable results. They are in a much better position by not coming to any agreement at a summit, than by appearing to agree, and then having to look for a pretext to renounce the agreement.

The United States speaks of being ahead in certain aspects of missilery. Who sends the big rockets into outer space? Who sent the first one? We might have been first except that, when Louis Johnson was Secretary of Defense in 1947, he decided to save a little money by cutting missile research and development out of the budget.

Our lag starts with him. Now our proudest boast is, "Well, we still have them talking in the United Nations, and, as long as they continue talking, we're all safe."

A thousand years from now, children will be studying the witless mistakes of the West in the 20th century. That is, if there are any children. . .

Cause Of Muscular Dystrophy Not Known

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Muscular dystrophy is a distressing disease, not only for the patient, but for the family. Many victims are children, who become so weak within a few years they are unable to walk without the aid of braces and casts.

An acquaintance had a 4-year-old son with progressive muscular dystrophy. On one occasion, I visited their home and the youngster was playing on the floor. He looked the picture of health; his calves and forearms were larger than average, and it was difficult to believe he had a muscular disorder.

But I changed my mind when the child decided to stand up. In order to rise, he first rolled over on his abdomen and laboriously got on his hands and knees. He put his head between his arms and raised the knees off the floor so he was supported by his hands and feet.

Then he started to climb up himself, alternating bringing one hand and then the other nearer to the corresponding toes until he was able to grasp his feet. The next step was to straighten the legs and repeat the process of moving the hands higher and higher until the thighs were reached. At this stage, the boy gave a sudden backward movement of the shoulders and stood erect.

Weakness begins usually in one muscle and affects others gradually. The hands, feet, and face often escape. Many develop muscle cramp but the disease otherwise is painless. In other types of muscular dystrophy, the muscles tend to atrophy so the extremities and shoulders look extremely thin.

The reason the boy mentioned looked so healthy was because the muscle fibers in the calves and forearms had degenerated and were replaced by fat and scar tissue. He looked strong but the bulges were not muscle.

Research teams are working hard to find the cause of muscular dystrophy. It may prove to be an inherent error in body enzymes, proteins, or metabolic processes.

TOMORROW: Two types of glaucoma.

BLOOD DOESN'T "THIN"

J. S. writes: If a person moves from a cold climate to a hot one, does his blood thin?

REPLY

No. A change in climate requires adjustments in circulation, sweating, and salt metabolism. The blood is not altered by heat as it is with changes in elevation.

LOW SALT INTAKE

G. C. W. writes: Why do some doctors restrict salt in older men?

REPLY

Salt is restricted when high blood pressure or dropsy is present.

Yes, and many have.

The question is too serious to be answered in a newspaper. Your physicians should advise you, as they know to what extent the repair job has corrected the original defect.

KIDNEY BEANS WON'T HELP

REPLY

No special foods aid or strengthen normal kidneys but drinking an adequate amount of water makes them function better.

No Place For The Unwary

Upsurge in stock trading has moved Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, to warn unwary would-be investors that Wall Street is no place to get something for nothing.

Mr. Funston's concern is understandable. Doubtless there is disquieting evidence of a great deal of unsophisticated trading in little known companies, especially those employing the glamorous "onics" in their corporate names. His advice is sound: exercise the same care in buying stocks that is used in purchasing a house.

And yet only three months ago Mr. Funston's concern was in the opposite direction. He thought there wasn't enough trading and suggested the Federal Reserve Board reduce the stock margin requirement from 70 to 50 per cent. At that time daily trading volume averaged four million shares, enough to keep most brokers happy.

The market has, without benefit of a margin reduction, reached a state of high fluidity the exchange head now finds altogether undesirable.

Of course, any market activity that draws unusual attention from the public also attracts the interest of regulatory agencies and Congress, as was the case in 1955 when hectic trading and tipster activity resulted in a Senate investigation.

But neither the SEC nor Congress can do much in protecting a novice from his innocence in the ways of the market.

Politics And Olympics

The Olympic games are presumed to be the acme of universal sports. But in recent years, the Olympics have become involved in politics, those who manage the games assuming to do what all the diplomacy of the entire world and the United Nations has been unable to do, namely, to decide what is China.

You may recall the television show of the Rome Olympics, when the delegation from Formosa carried a sign stating their protest against being regarded as Formosa, which, of course, they are not. Their proper title is the Republic of China and they are so recognized by the United Nations.

But it seems that the Marquess of Exeter, a great British sportsman, favors Red Chinese participation in the Olympics. He has been quarrelling over this with General John Grombach, an American athlete who wanted to know why the Britisher was so excited about getting Red China in. So he hired an investigating agency in England to give him the low-down on the Marquess. This offended the Marquess, who adopts the position that he is emotionally a just man only interested in athletics.

However, it was found that the Marquess of Exeter is an excellent businessman who is a bank director and is also in many firms which have business with Soviet countries. The Marquess is a distinguished athlete, better known as Lord Burghley, and has gained many honors. However, the British Who's Who lists him as associated with numerous businesses, including the National Provincial Bank, Ltd., which acts as correspondent for Soviet and Red Chinese banks.

The conflict therefore is between the British view that Red China is China and the American view that the Republic of China is China. The Olympic Committee cannot solve this difference of opinion and has no business to become involved in it.

The British press has taken an interest in the controversy, particularly playing up the fact that General Grombach employed a "Private Eye" to discover who the Marquess of Exeter really is. There is not secret about that. As Lord Burghley, he achieved a distinguished career as a hurdler. The British press ridiculed the attack on Exeter as a Red-hunting which, of course, it was not. Besides, why not hunt Reds?

All of this is not of very great significance. What is important is that the Olympic Committee is attempting to settle a political question. It might be suggested that as the British recognize Red China, they are entitled to promote the Red China cause in the Olympics. On the other hand, the nations which reject Red China would then be justified in boycotting the Olympic games if the Red Chinese were admitted. Red China is a moral and emotional problem. However, the games were not organized for this sort of politics. They ought to keep out of politics and propaganda altogether. It is stepping out of line when they attempt to make a political decision.

Therefore the Olympic Committee ought to conform to the listing of nations by the United Nations. That would settle the entire business. It is, by international treaty, the proper body to prepare such a list. Neither the Marquess of Exeter nor General Grombach is empowered to recognize or to refuse to recognize a nation. Nor is the Olympic Committee empowered to do anything of the sort. To avoid just such a controversy as has arisen the Olympic Committee should mind its own business.

This is one of these peculiar little questions which makes for lots of trouble between nations and certainly neither Great Britain nor the United States needs to fight over this at the present time. The Marquess may feel that he is a great authority on international relations but it does no good to get excited about Red China which did not show up at Rome anyhow and is not likely to until that country is recognized by the United Nations and the United States. It would be more sporting to fight this battle where it belongs, in the United Nations arena, and not in the Olympic Committee, the members of which are no great shakes as politicians and diplomats. Besides, the Red China question may have to be settled by war some day.

In a statement the learned Marquess said that there is only one China, namely, Peking. "As far as Taiwan is concerned we could also recognize an administration if it were under a different name hence giving up the term of China."

To an American, of course, this is nonsense.

Minimum Wage Bill Battle Hangs On Amendment Limiting Coverage

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — D-Day in the minimum wage battle comes tomorrow and the crucial amendment will be that introduced by Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, limiting coverage of the act to establishments which do business in two or more states. The Senate bill, as now written, exempts establishments doing less than $1,000,000 a year regardless of whether they operate interstate.

The author of the crucial amendment, Mike Monroney, used to operate a large furniture store in Oklahoma City, doing more than $1,000,000 of business a year but not in interstate commerce. So at first it was thought Mike, a respected Senator, had a conflict of interest by promoting this amendment.

Rule 12 of the Senate requires a Senator to abstain from voting when his personal business is affected by that vote. The other Senator from Oklahoma, genial Bob Kerr, the big oilman, has not hesitated to vote, speak, and lobby when oil-gas legislation is at stake. However, this column has now ascertained that Monroney has sold all the stock in his furniture store and neither he nor his wife has any interest in it. His conflict-of-interest skirts therefore appear to be clean.

Two Conflicting Senators

Two other Senators, however, are in a unique position. They are:

Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican, whose family owns three Arizona department stores, including the biggest between Dallas and Los Angeles. They do far more than $1,000,000 a year but are not in interstate business.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, Rhode Island Democrat, whose mother-in-law is probably the single biggest stockholder in the gaint A and P chain stores, founded by Mrs. Pell's great-grandfather, George Hartford.

The chain stores generally have been lobbying against the Minimum Wage Act. So have the big department store owners and the retail associations. However, here is how these two Senators will vote on the minimum wage act:

Goldwater will vote for his family's pocketbook interest and for the Monroney amendment which would exempt his department stores from coverage. Arizona is among the lowest in the nation in minimum wage coverage, but the Senator from Arizona will also vote for other crippling amendments. As he stated on the Senate floor to then Sen. Kennedy of Massachusetts last summer: "I will do everything in my power to help defeat these proposals."

Pell will vote against his family's pocketbook interest, for the Minimum Wage Bill and for all amendments to strengthen it. "We ought to make it (the minimum wage) 100 per cent in Rhode Island and throughout the nation," says Sen. Pell.

U. S. $$ Abroad

Otto Passman, the nickel-nursing Congressman from Louisiana, has just come back from his annual Easter trip to Paris, Madrid, and points between for the purpose of scrutinizing foreign aid expenditures.

Although a junket of sorts, it should be noted that the Congressman works hard on these trips and if the State Department listened more to his admonitions for efficiency there would not be such a hassle over foreign aid appropriations.

One of the most important jobs Kennedy faces is to enlist new, dedicated personnel to administer foreign aid. There are still a lot of fine public servants in the program, but they have been so diluted and so discouraged that the spit and polish of the original Marshall Plan has worn off. It needs to be refurbished.

For instance, Carter de Paul, U. S. aid director in Laos, was singled out by the House Government Operations Committee for selling "his 1947 Cadillac upon his departure from Laos to Gerald A. Peabody, head of Universal Construction Co. (which did a lot of government business in Laos) at an inflated price . . . The vehicle was inoperable, and shortly thereafter it was cut up and the pieces dropped down an abandoned well. In the interim it had stood in front of Universal's office where it was the subject of scornful amusement by Laotians and Americans alike."

The same Carter de Paul is now head of the investment development division of ICA with the job of encouraging private enterprise abroad. A plan was put before him recently to create unused local currencies, accumulated through the sale of U. S. surplus food abroad, to work as a reinsurance fund to underwrite local small businesses. It was argued that foreign countries could do with less U. S. dollars if these local blocked currencies could be used. Mr. de Paul, however, turned the idea down.

Nickel-Nursing Tirades

These are some of the things that make the Congressman from Louisiana go on his nickel-nursing tirades. It's understandable. However, Passman is now about to do a less understandable disservice to the Kennedy program in Latin America. Today he begins marking up the appropriation bill for the $500,000,000 Development Loan Fund plus the $100,000,000 of foreign aid for Latin America.

And Otto is planning to lop off the latter $100,000,000. What he doesn't realize is that this total package for Latin America is peanuts compared with the $4 billion pumped into the rest of the world annually. Latin America is a vast continent, with great opportunities for development, and great political tides that could turn against the USA.

If the proposed Kennedy appropriation is now cut, thanks to the well-intentioned economy of Otto Passman, those tides will turn even more against us.

Meanwhile, Henry Labouisse, Kennedy's new Foreign Aid Director, should pump some new personnel blood into foreign aid.

Ceasefire Cause For Apprehension In Laos

By Joseph Alsop

VIENTIANE, Laos

Every sensible person in this little city, who has either Laotian or Western interests at heart, looks forward to the new phase of the Laos crisis with extreme concern and apprehension.

If you are several thousand miles away from Laos, it may seem very hopeful indeed that a ceasefire seems likely and that negotiations are expected to begin. But if you are in Laos, the new phase looks just about as dangerous as the phase that is now coming to a close.

To begin with, the Communist forces here, with the assistance of lavish Soviet supplies and large numbers of invaders from North Vietnam, have occupied far too large a part of Laos.

The position is much worse than in 1954, when the Geneva accord left the Communist Pathet Lao movement in control of the two northern provinces, Phong Saly and Samneua.

That was bad enough, as experience proved. But a ceasefire now will presumably leave the Communists in control of these two frontier provinces, plus important bits of other provinces, plus the whole of Xien Kuang province with the Plaine des Jarres and the important Xien Kuang airfield.

Their hold on Xien Kuang gives the Communists a grip on the strategic heart of Laos.

It is wishful nonsense to talk about a stable, truly neutral Laos as long as the Communists retain military control of the heart of the country. It is just as wishful to imagine that a Communist pullback can be arranged by the eloquent persuasions of an Indian chairman of a restored Internatoinal Control Commission. In fact it is hard to imagine any Communist pullback at all, except under threat of force or as a result of actual military pressure.

Thus the situation on the ground is very grave indeed. Yet there are reasons for believing that the general political situation is even worse. To understand why this is so, one must look at the origins of the present Laos crisis and the singular response of the Eisenhower administration.

In particular, one must look at the coup d'etat of Capt. Kong Le and the subsequent assumption of the Premiership by Prince Souvanna Phouma. The coup installed a neutral government, or at any rate a "neutralist" government in Laos. The British, the French, and even the American Embassy here recommended acceptance of this accomplished fact.

The Eisenhower administration rejected this recommendation, and persevered in its earlier policy of promoting a pro-Western Laotian government. With open American support, Marshal Phoumi drove Kong Le, Prince Souvanna, and their collaborators out of Vientiane. This would have been perfectly defensible if the Eisenhower administration had meanwhile steeled itself for the possible consequences of its own decision.

Instead, the Eisenhower administration seemed to be taken wholly by surprise when the quite foresssable consequences ensued. The Soviets and Communist North Vietnamese jumped into Laos with both feet. All Marshal Phoumi's gains and more were lost. But the American government, which had been so bloody, bold, and resolute before, was now flaccidly impotent.

After these events, Prince Souvanna Phouma is probably the last remaining truly neutral important personality in Laos, if indeed his claims on this point can be believed. In order to see why this is so, it is only necessary to consider the recent experience of the next most important figure in the former Souvanna Phouma government, the able non-Communist leftist Qinim Bolsena.

Qinim, a man with a large chip on his shoulder, came into office as the result of a severe setback for American policy. He was driven out again at the point of American guns. He has now been carried back toward power again, so to say, on the shoulders of Communist armed forces. Who should be surprised if there is much first hand evidence that Qinim and all the other men like him are now ten times more bitterly anti-Western as well as rather actively and openly pro-Communist.

There are one or two shreds of more hopeful evidence, such as the report that Kong Le has fallen out with his Communist partners, and has been pushed around by them. But it is still likely that in the present circumstances this kind of government is virtually certain to give the Communists effective control of Laos before very long.

Such are the general characteristics of the pickle we're in here. It may be, of course, that President Kennedy's handling of the Laos crisis has been designed to mask a gradual but decisive retreat behind a show of firmness. But if the President means what he says about the fatal effects of Communist control of Laos, he is going to have to show a great deal more firmness, and to be infinitely dexterous too, in order to achieve the truly neutral Laos he has been talking about.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

BABY SITTER — Some ladies' tongues are wagging in Washington about the way the First Lady seems to be using her busy President-husband as a baby sitter.

On some trips to Palm Springs and to New York, Jacqueline Kennedy left daughter Caroline behind at the White House. The little girl also has been left at the official residence on occasions when "Jackie" and infant son, John Jr., have been at Glen Ora, their rented country hide-away in nearby Virginia.

On these occasions, Caroline seems to have the run of the White House and apparently delights in dropping in on the President while he is at work in the White House offices.

Actually, the occasions seem more frequent than they are as each of them is widely publicized. Further, they represent no change in the normal Kennedy household routine, where close family relationships are encouraged despite the extremely busy schedule of the adults.

Besides, President Kennedy wants to make up for his long months away from home while seeking the Presidential nomination and campaigning for the Presidency.

ONE OF THE BOYS—President Kennedy's famed humor serves him in good stead in his relations with Congress. He mingles well with the members and never plays the role of the Great Man.

One device he is using to keep on good terms with "The Hill" is to hold a series of "coffee hours" with small Congressional groups where he can mingle informally with the legislators.

At one of these, Rep. Wayne Hays, Ohio Democrat, amused Kennedy by assuring him that he didn't plan to run for the presidency in 1964. Hays said his six-year-old daughter had urged him not to because she didn't want to move into the White House and leave all her friends.

Kennedy had a good laugh, and then brought down the house by commeting: "That's not the problem I have with Caroline. My problem is to keep her from holding press conferences."

Cause Of Muscular Dystrophy Not Known

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Muscular dystrophy is a distressing disease, not only for the patient, but for the family. Many victims are children, who become so weak within a few years they are unable to walk without the aid of braces and casts.

An acquaintance had a 4-year-old son with progressive muscular dystrophy. On one occasion, I visited their home and the youngster was playing on the floor. He looked the picture of health; his calves and forearms were larger than average, and it was difficult to believe he had a muscular disorder.

But I changed my mind when the child decided to stand up. In order to rise, he first rolled over on his abdomen and laboriously got on his hands and knees. He put his head between his arms and raised the knees off the floor so he was supported by his hands and feet.

Then he started to climb up himself, alternating bringing one hand and then the other nearer to the corresponding toes until he was able to grasp his feet. The next step was to straighten the legs and repeat the process of moving the hands higher and higher until the thighs were reached. At this stage, the boy gave a sudden backward movement of the shoulders and stood erect.

Weakness begins usually in one muscle and affects others gradually. The hands, feet, and face often escape. Many develop muscle cramp but the disease otherwise is painless. In other types of muscular dystrophy, the muscles tend to atrophy so the extremities and shoulders look extremely thin.

The reason the boy mentioned looked so healthy was because the muscle fibers in the calves and forearms had degenerated and were replaced by fat and scar tissue. He looked strong but the bulges were not muscle.

Research teams are working hard to find the cause of muscular dystrophy. It may prove to be an inherent error in body enzymes, proteins, or metabolic processes.

TOMORROW: Two types of glaucoma.

BLOOD DOESN'T "THIN"

J. S. writes: If a person moves from a cold climate to a hot one, does his blood thin?

REPLY

No. A change in climate requires adjustments in circulation, sweating, and salt metabolism. The blood is not altered by heat as it is with changes in elevation.

LOW SALT INTAKE

G. C. W. writes: Why do some doctors restrict salt in older men?

REPLY

Salt is restricted when high blood pressure or dropsy is present.

A FATHER AT 60

D. R. writes: Is it possible for a man of 60 to produce a child?

REPLY

Yes, and many have.

VALVE REPAIR

M. C. writes: After a heart valve operation, can the person engage in all physical activities?

REPLY

The question is too serious to be answered in a newspaper. Your physicians should advise you, as they know to what extent the repair job has corrected the original defect.

KIDNEY BEANS WON'T HELP

F. E. writes: Will any special diet benefit the kidneys?

REPLY

No special foods aid or strengthen normal kidneys but drinking an adequate amount of water makes them function better.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Zsa Zsa Gabor, the maverick of the TV circuit, was asked if it was the proper thing for a girl to return the ring after she broke an engagement. "Definitely," pronounced Zsa Zsa without hesitation. "She should return the ring immediately, but keep the diamond, of course."

Goody Ace, probably the highest paid script writer in TV (somteheing like $8,500 a week), once toiled for peanuts in a network's radio department — and was overpaid at that, because they seldom accepted a line he had written. "If ever an atom bomb falls on this town," he blurted suddenly, "It's me for the 18th floor of that outfit. That's one place there's never any radioactivity!"

Goody, who likes horse racing, once named the warm weather months as June, July, August and Aqueduct. Persuaded to bet one day on a hopeless long shot, he told his wife Jane later, "I got a tip this nag would walk in, and I must say he tried to."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The Soviet Union, as a phenomenon of the 20th century, will be the first to go down in history as a predatory nation with no honor. The Caesars, at their worst, had some. So did the Huns, the ancient Persians and, of course, the Greeks. The only nation that approaches the Soviets in lack of integrity is Adolf Hitler's Germany, but he lasted only 12 years.

The Russian Revolutionary Government has been in power 43 years. It grows stronger, not weaker, and its goal has remained fixed: Communist domination of the world. The Russian bear lumbers slowly across the snows of time. Ahead, the western powers in their droshky toss the bear a baby nation now and then to slow him down, but his appetite is insatiable.

He stops for a moment to kill and digest, but he moves on at a trot, never tiring, never frightened, always closing in. The ideology of the Soviets is godless intellect coupled with national aggrandizement. Whatever adds to the power of Russia is good for all.

The sun has set on all the major empires of the West; now it rises in the East. The Communists control a land mass from the Arctic Ocean to Malaya, from Anadyr peninsula to Berlin — the Caesars of Rome never had an empire like that. It will grow bigger before it starts to shrink.

It was Andrei Vishinsky, prosecutor in the purge trials of 1934, who listened to an unhappy defendant confess that he had been friendly with the Germans because "our policy was to be friendly, at the time." Vishinsky chuckled. He shook his head as though such stupidity was beyond him. "Do you not know," he shouted, "that, no matter what the public policy of the moment, true socialism cannot live with any other system of government? The working class must establish governments in every nation. Has this not been the unfailing, unchanging policy of Marx and Lenin and Stalin?"

It has. Anyone who says that the West can negotiate with the East is naive. Negotiation in Laos, in Berlin, in Korea — anywhere in the world — must result in a Soviet advantage or there will be no agreement. The game, as the West plays it, is to see how cheaply the bear can be bought for a moment's peace.

The Russians fight with new weapons: propaganda and economics. For a young nation, they use these two well. They have beaten us so many times in the field of propaganda that now, when a new crisis develops, the world does not look to Washington for a solution; it turns to Moscow.

These are clever weapons, well honed, and they win battles without sacrificing Russian lives. The Soviets take a chunk of territory here, enslave a few million people there, win a concession somewhere else, and all the time they keep the world in such a chronic state of fright that the West spends more and more, trying to be ready.

The propaganda weapon may not kill us, but the economic one can. Our defense spending this year will come to $43 billion. Each American wage earner will owe $683 for missiles and planes and warships alone. This is an enormous sum for an average man to owe his government each year. It will grow greater because the policy of the Soviet Government is to keep feinting the Untied States toward heavier armament while the Russians hold two keys: One to war, one to peace.

It is not necessary for them to put either one in the door of history. They can jangle them, and achieve notable results. They are in a much better position by not coming to any agreement at a summit, than by appearing to agree, and then having to look for a pretext to renounce the agreement.

The United States speaks of being ahead in certain aspects of missilery. Who sends the big rockets into outer space? Who sent the first one? We might have been first except that, when Louis Johnson was Secretary of Defense in 1947, he decided to save a little money by cutting missile research and development out of the budget.

Our lag starts with him. Now our proudest boast is, "Well, we still have them talking in the United Nations, and, as long as they continue talking, we're all safe."

A thousand years from now, children will be studying the witless mistakes of the West in the 20th century. That is, if there are any children. . .

W. Va. Poultry Convention To Be August 2-4

Moorefield Host At Annual Session

MOOREFIELD, W. Va — The 1961 West Virginia Poultry Convention will be held here August 2-4, it was announced by Harold M. Hyre, associate professor of poultry science in the College of Agriculture, Forestry, and Home Economics, West Virginia University. Mr. Hyre is chairman of the publicity committee for the conference, which is under the auspices of the West Virginia Poultry Association.

"This annual affair consists of many poultry activities," Hyre explained. "The annual meeting of the association, two full days of educational meetings, a beauty pageant, a poultry parade, and a poultry barbecue are some of the events which will take place."

Donald Baker, Moorefield, president of the West Virginia Poultry Association, has called a meeting of all officers and members of the executive committee of the association to be held at Blackwater Falls Lodge, Davis, Tucker County, on April 14-15. At this meeting, the educational program committee for the conference will make its report.

This committee already has plans under way to obtain speakers with national reputation in poultry circles for the convention. "As usual," Hyre commented, "poultry producers of the Mountain State are assured of an up-to-date program. Subjects to be discussed will include broilers, layers, turkeys, management, and consumption of poultry and poultry products. West Virginia poultrymen are invited to attend this year's poultry convention and to take a part in the discussions."

Total production for the three areas since the first of the year was down some 2.5 million tons from the 1960 output.

VIRGIL ALEXANDER

Former Mayor To Seek Office In Lonaconing

Alexander Elected To Post Thrice

LONACONING — Virgil Alexander, who was three times elected mayor of Lonaconing and resigned during the later part of his third term because of ill health, will be a candidate for mayor in the May election.

Having regained his health, Mr. Alexander, because of his record during his time in office, said he is being urged by a number of business people and other friends in the community to seek election again.

He is employed as a salesman for B. Beneman & Sons, Cumberland furniture dealers, but continues to reside on Main Street here. He is a native and lifelong resident of Lonaconing.

While Mr. Alexander served this community as mayor, he noted, he encouraged a revision of the town's charter and streamlined the government. Instead of six councilmen and a mayor, which had proved to be unwieldy and sometimes inefficient, Mr. Alexander led the community to the adoption of a modified commission form of government with a mayor and four councilmen, serving as commissioners.

Now, the town has a councilman responsible for each respective department such as police and public safety, streets, water, thereby dividing the responsibility and management.

Work was done on many streets and practically every unpaved street in the town was paved during Mr. Alexander's administration. He also urged improvement in the town's water system and succeeded in advancement in that area. It was through his leadership that the town's police officers were placed under a civil service system, and Mayor Alexander bought the town its first police cruiser, thus increasing police protection. He also had the town hall improved and renovated during his time in office.

Lonaconing became a member of the Maryland Municipal League while Mr. Alexander was mayor.

VIRGIL ALEXANDER

Former Mayor To Seek Office In Lonaconing

Alexander Elected To Post Thrice

LONACONING — Virgil Alexander, who was three times elected mayor of Lonaconing and resigned during the later part of his third term because of ill health, will be a candidate for mayor in the May election.

Having regained his health, Mr. Alexander, because of his record during his time in office, said he is being urged by a number of business people and other friends in the community to seek election again.

He is employed as a salesman for B. Beneman & Sons, Cumberland furniture dealers, but continues to reside on Main Street here. He is a native and lifelong resident of Lonaconing.

While Mr. Alexander served this community as mayor, he noted, he encouraged a revision of the town's charter and streamlined the government. Instead of six councilmen and a mayor, which had proved to be unwieldy and sometimes inefficient, Mr. Alexander led the community to the adoption of a modified commission form of government with a mayor and four councilmen, serving as commissioners.

Now, the town has a councilman responsible for each respective department such as police and public safety, streets, water, thereby dividing the responsibility and management.

Work was done on many streets and practically every unpaved street in the town was paved during Mr. Alexander's administration. He also urged improvement in the town's water system and succeeded in advancement in that area. It was through his leadership that the town's police officers were placed under a civil service system, and Mayor Alexander bought the town its first police cruiser, thus increasing police protection. He also had the town hall improved and renovated during his time in office.

Lonaconing became a member of the Maryland Municipal League while Mr. Alexander was mayor.

Champs Win On Virdon's 3-Run Homer

41,423 Fans See Pittsburgh Rally In Ninth Inning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bill Virdon slammed a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning Tuesday, boosting the 1960 world baseball champion Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-7 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

An opening day throng of 41,423 watched the Pirates rally after their first two batters went down in the final frame.

Then pinch hitters Dick Schofield doubled and Dick Stuart walked. Lefty Mike McCormick relieved Stu Miller for the Giants and Virdon smashed McCormick's first pitch over the right field fence at Candlestick Park.

The victory went to Elroy Face, the Pirates' veteran reliever who was their third pitcher.

Until the ninth, the Giants were in command. Orlando Cepeda knocked in three runs, Willie McCovey two and they hit successive solo homers in the fifth.

Hockey Series Resumes Today

Detroit Is Host In 4th Of Series

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings Tuesday looked to the home ice advantage to get them even in the Stanley Cup championship series with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Hawks, bidding for their first Stanley Cup title in 23 years, have won both games on Chicago ice. The Wings won the lone contest at Olympic Stadium. The fourth game in the best-of-seven series for hockey's biggest prize will be played here Wednesday night.

The Detroit cripple corps is growing. Defenseman Warren Godfrey stayed in Detroit Tuesday for treatment of a bruised left knee. Marcel Pronovost, all-star defenseman, has missed the last two games with a severe foot bruise. Doctors doubt he will be ready Wednesday night. Godfrey may see limited action.

Goalie Terry Sawchuck is ready to go again but Coach Sid Abel may keep Hank Bassen in goal. Sawchuck has been out with back and shoulder bruises for all except one period of action in the series.

Boston Miscues Enable Athletics To Win Opener, 5-2

BOSTON (AP) — Kansas City was staked to four unearned runs by a chilled and uncertain Boston infield Tuesday and went on to beat the Red Sox 5-2 in each team's American League opener.

Pitcher Ray Herbert, who operated effectively for six innings, drove in a pair of runs — both unearned — in the second. The A's pushed the lead to 4-1 in the sixth and were home safe.

Jim said he got even with the fans by getting on base five times, including four hits, out of six times at the plate in the Indians 9-5 win over the Tigers in the season opener. (AP Photofax)

Cards Defeat Spahn In 10th On Homer, 2-1

McDaniel Is Victor On Spencer's Blast

MILWAUKEE (AP)—St. Louis shortstop Daryl Spencer cracked Warren Spahn's first pitch in the 10th inning for a homer boosting the Cardinals to a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday in a National League opener.

Spencer's blast dealt Spahn a heartbreaking loss before a chilled crowd of 33,327.

Spahn, who will be 40 in less than two weeks, baffled the Cards on just one hit, a bunt by Julian Javier leading off the game, before Stan (The Man) Musial tripled with two out in the seventh. Musial was left stranded.

With one out in the eighth, the Cards' Hal Smith tripled. Curt Flood, running for Smith, then scored as pinch hitter Bob Nieman singled to tie the count 1-1.

The Braves' lone run came on a home run by Mathews in the fourth.

Celts Down Hawks For NBA Title

Russell Gets 30 In 121-112 Win

BOSTON (UPI) — The incomparable Boston Celtics won their third consecutive National Basketball Association championship Tuesday night by beating the St. Louis Hawks, 121-112, and annexing their best of seven playoff series, four games to one.

Bill Russell, Boston's 6-10 All-Star center, was the big man in the fourth world title the Celtics have won over the last five years.

Russell topped all scorers with 30 points, one of the highest totals in his NBA career. In addition he had 28 rebounds and converted 12 of 20 shots from the foul line. Russell had been the "goat" of Boston's only loss in the series when he missed 9 of 13 free throws at St. Louis Saturday.

The Celtics thus became the second team in the history of the NBA to win three straight titles. The old Minneapolis Lakers accomplished the feat from 1952 to 1954 with George Mikan.

Once again, it was a third period spurt that gave the Celtics a commanding lead. Boston was ahead by a single point, 62-61, at the half but ran the first eight points in the opening two minutes of the third frame.

Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit again were the top scorers for the Hawks, Hagan with 26 and Pettit with 24. Clyde Lovellette had 15 and Lennie Wilkens 16.

Chicubs Lose To Reds, 7-1

O'Toole Sparkles With Four-Hitter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim O'Toole, who pitched most of last year's season opening victory for the Cincinnati Reds without getting credit for the triumph, made it on his own Tuesday with a sparkling four-hitter in a 7-1 Cincinnati decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The 24-year-old O'Toole, starting his third full season in the majors, was aided by some lusty Reds' hitting that included home runs by Frank Robinson and Wally Post. Post's was good for three runs.

In all, the Reds pounded an assortment of Cub pitchers, starting with Glenn Hobbie, for 14 hits. Ed Bailey and Vada Pison each got three singles for the Reds.

Angels Down Birds, 7-2, In AL Debut

Kluszewski Belts Two Homers, Has 5 RBIs For L.A.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ted Kluszewski socked homers in his first two times at bat Tuesday to account for a total of five runs in powering the Los Angeles Angels to a victorious 7-2 American League debut over the Baltimore Orioles.

Bob Cerv smacked a home run right behind Kluszewski in the first inning and Albie Pearson singled in the other run in the second to quickly complete the Los Angeles scoring.

It proved enough for pitcher Eli Grba who held the Orioles to single runs, produced with the aid of errors, in the second and third innings.

Kluszewski's first homer down the right field foul line was off Milt Pappas, 15-game winner the past two seasons for the Orioles, with one on base.

His second with two on welcomed John Papa, 21-year-old from Stratford, Conn., to the big leagues. The ball sailed over the 380-foot mark and an auxiliary scoreboard bearing the hopeful pennant slogan "It Can be Done in '61."

Grba, 26-year-old right hander picked in the player lottery from the New York Yankees, held the Orioles to six hits, gave them four walks and fanned five.

After Pappas and Papa gave up all the runs on four hits, Wes Stock, Billy Hoeft and Hoyt Wilhelm stopped the Angels for seven innings on two singles.

The crowd of 37,352 shivering in strong winds saw a double by Brooks Robinson in the fifth inning as the only sign of Oriole power.

Ramos Blanks New York As Minnesota Wins, 6-0

Allison, Bertoia Hit Twins Homers, Ford Is Loser

NEW YORK (AP)—Home runs by Bob Allison and Reno Bertoia plus Pedro Ramos' shutout pitching and hitting got the Minnesota Twins away to a flying start in their American League debut Tuesday with a 6-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

Ramos and Whitey Ford were locked in a scoreless battle until the Twins, the old Washington Senators, broke loose with three runs in the seventh inning.

Allison's homer opened the scoring. Earl Battey's double, a walk to Bertoia and Billy Gardner's sacrifice set the stage for Ramos' two-run single to center.

The opening day crowd of 14,607 watched the first Yankee opener in 13 years without Casey Stengel. Ralph Houk, the rookie skipper who replaced Stengel, made his first unhappy game appearance when he lifted Ford for Ralph Terry in the seventh.

DETROIT (AP) — Vic Power and Jim Piersall each banged out four hits in Cleveland's 18-hit assault that carried the Indians to a 9-5 triumph Tuesday over the Detroit Tigers. Jim Perry scattered seven Detroit hits, going the route in the American League baseball opener for both teams.

A crowd of 41,643 watched the Indians lace starter Jim Bunning for six runs in the second inning. Cleveland batters collected six hits in the inning and got three unearned runs as the result of a fumble by shortstop Chico Fernandez.

Eismon To Move To Parkersburg

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) —The official offices of the West Virginia Secondary School Activities Commission will be moved here from Charles Town.

Executive Secretary Gordon Eismon said the purpose of the move is to locate his office more centrally in the state.

Eismon, who was then principal of Charles Town High School, moved the office to that Eastern Panhandle town. He said he was reluctant to leave Charles Town until his son completed high school. That will be next month.

Champs Win On Virdon's 3-Run Homer

41,423 Fans See Pittsburgh Rally In Ninth Inning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bill Virdon slammed a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning Tuesday, boosting the 1960 world baseball champion Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-7 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Hockey Series Resumes Today

Detroit Is Host In 4th Of Series

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings Tuesday looked to the home ice advantage to get them even in the Stanley Cup championship series with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Hawks, bidding for their first Stanley Cup title in 23 years, have won both games on Chicago ice. The Wings won the lone contest at Olympic Stadium. The fourth game in the best-of-seven series for hockey's biggest prize will be played here Wednesday night.

The Detroit cripple corps is growing. Defenseman Warren Godfrey stayed in Detroit Tuesday for treatment of a bruised left knee. Marcel Pronovost, all-star defenseman, has missed the last two games with a severe foot bruise. Doctors doubt he will be ready Wednesday night. Godfrey may see limited action.

Goalie Terry Sawchuck is ready to go again but Coach Sid Abel may keep Hank Bassen in goal. Sawchuck has been out with back and shoulder bruises for all except one period of action in the series.

Boston Miscues Enable Athletics To Win Opener, 5-2

BOSTON (AP) — Kansas City was staked to four unearned runs by a chilled and uncertain Boston infield Tuesday and went on to beat the Red Sox 5-2 in each team's American League opener.

Pitcher Ray Herbert, who operated effectively for six innings, drove in a pair of runs — both unearned — in the second. The A's pushed the lead to 4-1 in the sixth and were home safe.

Cards Defeat Spahn In 10th On Homer, 2-1

McDaniel Is Victor On Spencer's Blast

MILWAUKEE (AP)—St. Louis shortstop Daryl Spencer cracked Warren Spahn's first pitch in the 10th inning for a homer boosting the Cardinals to a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday in a National League opener.

Spahn, who will be 40 in less than two weeks, baffled the Cards on just one hit, a bunt by Julian Javier leading off the game, before Stan (The Man) Musial tripled with two out in the seventh. Musial was left stranded.

With one out in the eighth, the Cards' Hal Smith tripled. Curt Flood, running for Smith, then scored as pinch hitter Bob Nieman singled to tie the count 1-1.

Celts Down Hawks For NBA Title

Russell Gets 30 In 121-112 Win

BOSTON (UPI) — The incomparable Boston Celtics won their third consecutive National Basketball Association championship Tuesday night by beating the St. Louis Hawks, 121-112, and annexing their best of seven playoff series, four games to one.

Bill Russell, Boston's 6-10 All-Star center, was the big man in the fourth world title the Celtics have won over the last five years.

Russell topped all scorers with 30 points, one of the highest totals in his NBA career. In addition he had 28 rebounds and converted 12 of 20 shots from the foul line. Russell had been the "goat" of Boston's only loss in the series when he missed 9 of 13 free throws at St. Louis Saturday.

The Celtics thus became the second team in the history of the NBA to win three straight titles. The old Minneapolis Lakers accomplished the feat from 1952 to 1954 with George Mikan.

Once again, it was a third period spurt that gave the Celtics a commanding lead. Boston was ahead by a single point, 62-61, at the half but ran the first eight points in the opening two minutes of the third frame.

Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit again were the top scorers for the Hawks, Hagan with 26 and Pettit with 24. Clyde Lovellette had 15 and Lennie Wilkens 16.

Chicubs Lose To Reds, 7-1

O'Toole Sparkles With Four-Hitter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim O'Toole, who pitched most of last year's season opening victory for the Cincinnati Reds without getting credit for the triumph, made it on his own Tuesday with a sparkling four-hitter in a 7-1 Cincinnati decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The 24-year-old O'Toole, starting his third full season in the majors, was aided by some lusty Reds' hitting that included home runs by Frank Robinson and Wally Post. Post's was good for three runs.

In all, the Reds pounded an assortment of Cub pitchers, starting with Glenn Hobbie, for 14 hits. Ed Bailey and Vada Pison each got three singles for the Reds.

Angels Down Birds, 7-2, In AL Debut

Kluszewski Belts Two Homers, Has 5 RBIs For L.A.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ted Kluszewski socked homers in his first two times at bat Tuesday to account for a total of five runs in powering the Los Angeles Angels to a victorious 7-2 American League debut over the Baltimore Orioles.

Bob Cerv smacked a home run right behind Kluszewski in the first inning and Albie Pearson singled in the other run in the second to quickly complete the Los Angeles scoring.

It proved enough for pitcher Eli Grba who held the Orioles to single runs, produced with the aid of errors, in the second and third innings.

Kluszewski's first homer down the right field foul line was off Milt Pappas, 15-game winner the past two seasons for the Orioles, with one on base.

His second with two on welcomed John Papa, 21-year-old from Stratford, Conn., to the big leagues. The ball sailed over the 380-foot mark and an auxiliary scoreboard bearing the hopeful pennant slogan "It Can be Done in '61."

Grba, 26-year-old right hander picked in the player lottery from the New York Yankees, held the Orioles to six hits, gave them four walks and fanned five.

After Pappas and Papa gave up all the runs on four hits, Wes Stock, Billy Hoeft and Hoyt Wilhelm stopped the Angels for seven innings on two singles.

Ramos Blanks New York As Minnesota Wins, 6-0

Allison, Bertoia Hit Twins Homers, Ford Is Loser

NEW YORK (AP)—Home runs by Bob Allison and Reno Bertoia plus Pedro Ramos' shutout pitching and hitting got the Minnesota Twins away to a flying start in their American League debut Tuesday with a 6-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

Ramos and Whitey Ford were locked in a scoreless battle until the Twins, the old Washington Senators, broke loose with three runs in the seventh inning.

Allison's homer opened the scoring. Earl Battey's double, a walk to Bertoia and Billy Gardner's sacrifice set the stage for Ramos' two-run single to center.

The opening day crowd of 14,607 watched the first Yankee opener in 13 years without Casey Stengel. Ralph Houk, the rookie skipper who replaced Stengel, made his first unhappy game appearance when he lifted Ford for Ralph Terry in the seventh.

Eismon To Move To Parkersburg

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) —The official offices of the West Virginia Secondary School Activities Commission will be moved here from Charles Town.

Executive Secretary Gordon Eismon said the purpose of the move is to locate his office more centrally in the state.

Eismon, who was then principal of Charles Town High School, moved the office to that Eastern Panhandle town. He said he was reluctant to leave Charles Town until his son completed high school. That will be next month.

Vikings Beat Franklin, 3-1, In PVC Opener

Paw Paw Trounced By Mathias, 19-2

Petersburg High School's Vikings launched their Potomac Valley Conference baseball campaign with a 3-1 victory over the Franklin High School Panthers in a game played yesterday at Petersburg.

Mathias High School registered its second win of the season by walloping the Paw Paw High School Pirates at the latter place by the score of 19-2.

Win Game Early

Petersburg won the game in the first inning by scoring two runs on timely hitting by Ernie Nelson and Jack Boor. Alt was safe on an error and Hines, who ran for him, scored on Nelson's two-base wallop. Jack Boor drove in Nelson with a single.

The final Vikings tally was registered in the fifth when Floyd Propst hit Boor with the bases full to force over the run. Shaffer singled, Bruce was safe on a dropped third strike by the catcher and Nelson was intentionally passed to load the bases before Boor was hit with a pitched ball.

Ernie Nelson, who pitched six innings, fanned 11 and yielded only three hits, got credit for the win. Jack Boor hurled the last inning for Petersburg. Propst went the route for Franklin, gave up four hits and mowed down 13 via the strikeout route.

Collect 18 Blows

Mathias, which trounced Circleville in its opening game, 11-2, collected 18 hits, including six doubles, in routing the Pirates.

Taylor led the attack with a double and three singles while Fogle, P. Delawder, Mongold, Wilkins and Hoover garnered two safeties each.

Lowell Mathias in posting his second win of the season limited Paw Paw to three hits, including a first inning homer by Roland Hamilton who had two of the losers' blows. Mathias whiffed six.

Lefty Tommy Malcolm of Paw Paw was the losing pitcher.

DeJohn Asks Return Fight With Machen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Mike DeJohn, bloodily beaten by Eddie Machen Monday night, Tuesday asked for a rematch.

The Syracuse, N. Y., battler said he had used poor strategy in the encounter at the Cow Palace — and that a second meeting would prove he could master Machen.

"I tried to knock him out with one punch," said DeJohn. "It was a mistake. I would like to meet him in a rematch. I'm sure I could out-box him."

Paw Paw Trounced By Mathias, 19-2

Petersburg High School's Vikings launched their Potomac Valley Conference baseball campaign with a 3-1 victory over the Franklin High School Panthers in a game played yesterday at Petersburg.

Mathias High School registered its second win of the season by walloping the Paw Paw High School Pirates at the latter place by the score of 19-2.

Win Game Early

Petersburg won the game in the first inning by scoring two runs on timely hitting by Ernie Nelson and Jack Boor. Alt was safe on an error and Hines, who ran for him, scored on Nelson's two-base wallop. Jack Boor drove in Nelson with a single.

The final Vikings tally was registered in the fifth when Floyd Propst hit Boor with the bases full to force over the run. Shaffer singled, Bruce was safe on a dropped third strike by the catcher and Nelson was intentionally passed to load the bases before Boor was hit with a pitched ball.

Dunkle's fielder's choice, an error, passed ball and wild pitch gave Franklin its lone run in the first inning.

Ernie Nelson, who pitched six innings, fanned 11 and yielded only three hits, got credit for the win. Jack Boor hurled the last inning for Petersburg. Propst went the route for Franklin, gave up four hits and mowed down 13 via the strikeout route.

Collect 18 Blows

Mathias, which trounced Circleville in its opening game, 11-2, collected 18 hits, including six doubles, in routing the Pirates.

Taylor led the attack with a double and three singles while Fogle, P. Delawder, Mongold, Wilkins and Hoover garnered two safeties each.

Lowell Mathias in posting his second win of the season limited Paw Paw to three hits, including a first inning homer by Roland Hamilton who had two of the losers' blows. Mathias whiffed six.

Lefty Tommy Malcolm of Paw Paw was the losing pitcher.

Two Novice Races Set For May 12

Ten events for foreign and domestic cars in various displacement classes will feature the ninth annual Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Races on Sunday, May 14, at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, it was announced yesterday by The Cumberland Lions Foundation and the Steel Cities Region, Sports Car Club of America, the sponsoring combination.

Saturday, May 13 will be taken up with necessary inspections of contestant cars, course familiarization and practice on Friday before the two events for novices and temporary license holders.

As in the past, the Cumberland Lions Club will handle local administrative duties, while the vast and complex technical chores will again be administered by Steel Cities.

Regional executive of the Steel Cities, Sports Car Club of America, is C. V. Martin. The local general chairman will be Lions president, William G. Barger, assisted by other Lions.

DeJohn Asks Return Fight With Machen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Mike DeJohn, bloodily beaten by Eddie Machen Monday night, Tuesday asked for a rematch.

The Syracuse, N. Y., battler said he had used poor strategy in the encounter at the Cow Palace — and that a second meeting would prove he could master Machen.

"I tried to knock him out with one punch," said DeJohn. "It was a mistake. I would like to meet him in a rematch. I'm sure I could out-box him."

But Machen was thinking only about a bout with world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Stocks Close Irregularly Higher In Active Session

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks had their ups and downs Tuesday—starting firm, turning easier at midday and closing irregularly higher. It was the second broadest market on record.

The Dow-Jones industrial average closed at a new record high of 694.11 for a gain of 2.05. Among the pivotals in this average, American Telephone lost 1½ and Du Pont 1¼ while Union Carbide rose 2½ and International Nickel and Procter & Gamble 1¼ apiece, the latter on a boosted dividend.

Blue chip electricals were strong despite a further Justice Department price rigging suit. GE gained 1⅞ and Westinghouse 1¼.

The rail average closed at 143.50 for a loss of 1.08 with Norfolk & Western down 1¾. Utilities finished off 0.34 at 112.29 with Panhandle down 2⅛.

A total of 1,326 issues crossed the tape, 15 more than the previous session and only eight less than the record of 1,334 issues traded Monday a week ago.

Of the issues traded, 556 advanced, 152 to new highs, while 566 declined, three to new lows. Both the Standard & Poor's 425 industrial and 500 stock indexes closed at record highs, despite the fact that declines slightly outnumbered advances.

Participants In Fair

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Nationalist China will have 12 booths at the 1961 International Trade Fair to be held in Seattle, Wash., starting April 20. The Formosa government has participated in the fair since 1952.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Old crop soybeans ran up as much as the 10-cent limit in heavy trading Tuesday. After ruling lower through most of the day, most other grains on the Board of Trade advanced with soybeans.

At the close wheat was off 1⅛ to up ¼, corn up 1¼ to 1¾, oats unchanged to up ⅞, rye off 1⅛ to 2¼, soybeans up 4½ to 10, and drummed lard up 47 to 60 points.

Soybeans and their by-products were in heavy demand throughout the day. After opening at the 10-cent limit in May and July, futures fell under heavy profit-taking. But the market rebounded near the close, carrying most other grains with it.

The active demand stemmed from a government report showing a big drop in soybean farm stocks on April 1. The cut was far greater than had been expected. Traders said weekly export figures due after the close Tuesday were also expected to be bullish.

May wheat lost more than a cent on liquidation. Export interests bought on reported sales of 700,000 bushels of hard wheat to Turkey and 1,125,000 bushels to Italy. There was also export demand for flour.

Corn eased early as continued large CCC sales discouraged longs. Estimated receipts of 98 cars at Chicago included 67 government carlots. Spot corn was steady to firm.

Outside markets were mixed.

Stocks Close Irregularly Higher In Active Session

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks had their ups and downs Tuesday—starting firm, turning easier at midday and closing irregularly higher. It was the second broadest market on record.

Tickers ran late for more than 90 minutes during the early advance, kept abreast of floor transactions during the mid-session bout of profit-taking, and ran three minutes late again at the close when a final rally centered on industrials.

Volume for the session amounted to 5,230,000 shares against a turnover of 5,550,000 shares during the sharp market advance of the prior session.

The Dow-Jones industrial average closed at a new record high of 694.11 for a gain of 2.05. Among the pivotals in this average, American Telephone lost 1½ and Du-Pont 1¼ while Union Carbide rose 2½ and International Nickel and Procter & Gamble 1¼ apiece, the latter on a boosted dividend.

Blue chip electricals were strong despite a further Justice Department price rigging suit. GE gained 1⅞ and Westinghouse 1¼.

The rail average closed at 143.50 for a loss of 1.08 with Norfolk & Western down 1¾. Utilities finished off 0.34 at 112.29 with Panhandle down 2⅛.

A total of 1,326 issues crossed the tape, 15 more than the previous session and only eight less than the record of 1,334 issues traded Monday a week ago.

Of the issues traded, 556 advanced, 152 to new highs, while 566 declined, three to new lows. Both the Standard & Poor's 425 industrial and 500 stock indexes closed at record highs, despite the fact that declines slightly outnumbered advances.

Participants In Fair

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Nationalist China will have 12 booths at the 1961 International Trade Fair to be held in Seattle, Wash., starting April 20. The Formosa government has participated in the fair since 1952.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Old crop soybeans ran up as much as the 10-cent limit in heavy trading Tuesday. After ruling lower through most of the day, most other grains on the Board of Trade advanced with soybeans.

At the close wheat was off 1⅛ to up ¼, corn up 1¼ to 1¾, oats unchanged to up ⅞, rye off 1⅛ to 2¼, soybeans up 4½ to 10, and drummed lard up 47 to 60 points.

Soybeans and their by-products were in heavy demand throughout the day. After opening at the 10-cent limit in May and July, futures fell under heavy profit-taking. But the market rebounded near the close, carrying most other grains with it.

The active demand stemmed from a government report showing a big drop in soybean farm stocks on April 1. The cut was far greater than had been expected. Traders said weekly export figures due after the close Tuesday were also expected to be bullish.

May wheat lost more than a cent on liquidation. Export interests bought on reported sales of 700,000 bushels of hard wheat to Turkey and 1,125,000 bushels to Italy. There was also export demand for flour.

Corn eased early as continued large CCC sales discouraged longs. Estimated receipts of 98 cars at Chicago included 67 government carlots. Spot corn was steady to firm.

Oats followed corn. May was under liquidation, while some locals bought on the decline.

Drummed lards were strong on buying encouraged by the upswing in oil.

Outside markets were mixed.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl 12 years old who is left out of all social activities because my father is an ex-convict. I try to be nice and friendly to everyone but it's no use. The girls at school have told me that their mothers don't want them to associate with me because it will be bad for their reputations. My father had some bad publicity in the papers and even though he has served his time nobody will forget it.

Is there anything I can do? I am very lonesome because it's no fun to be alone all the time. My mother tries to take me places with her but I want to be with people my own age. Please give me some advice — AN OUTCAST

DEAR LITTLE FRIEND: I refuse to call you an Outcast because I don't want you to think of yourself in that way ever again.

Everyone has the right to be judged for what he is and accepted for what he is.

Mothers who poison the minds of their young daughters by suggesting that a girl is not fit company because of something her father did are guilty of a crime against society, too. They keep alive the evil of guilt by association.

Many men who have served prison terms return to their communities to become respected and beloved leaders and humanitarians. They often work twice as hard to be useful citizens and they earn acceptance — and forgiveness.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I both enjoy your column and we read it to one another often. Recently you printed a letter from a man who spanked his wife with a ping pong paddle. My husband jokingly said, "I think that would be a good way to keep you in line"—and the same evening when we had an argument he did exactly that.

He has spanked me with the ping ping paddle three times since, and it really does hurt. I thought at first it was all in fun, but it's not funny any more. He has a hot temper and is very strong. I'm no match for him, physically. Tell me what to do. RESENTFUL

DEAR RESENTFUL: : The only thing lower than a man who would hit a woman is a woman who would put up with it.

If you've been spanked four times and are just getting around to asking for advice there's something wrong with you as well as with him. Find a psychiatrist with two couches.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the young fellow whose motors wouldn't run. He wondered if it was possible that his discarded girl friend had put a hex on him.

Your answer was intelligent as usual. You told the young man that no person has no such power over another, and suggested that something was mechanically wrong with his motors.

A modern name for hexing, or casting an evil spell, is "fear psychology.'" In their ignorance mothers often do this to their children. They say "Come on down from there or you'll fall"—or "Drop that knife or you'll cut yourself." The power of suggestion often results in the person doing exactly the wrong thing. It is far better to say "Please give me the knife. It's pretty and I would like to see the handle."

That you for letting me get this off my chest. —LOTTIE

Confidential to HERCULES: Well, bully for you! Two marriage failures and you're bragging that you've never needed outside help! It sounds like the operation was a success but the patient died.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Area Baptists Set April As Revival Month

April is being observed as "Revival Month" by the Baptist churches in this area which are affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention. Each church has scheduled an evangelistic effort preceded by a week of prayer and visitation.

First Baptist Church of Bedford will have Rev. Finney Bragg, pastor of Catonsville Baptist Church, as evangelist during the week of April 23-30.

Rev. Archie McIntyre, pastor of Second Baptist Church, announces that Rev. Dr. William J. Crowder, Washington, will be the evangelist the week of April 23-30. Rev. Henry Laube, pastor of First Baptist Church, Westernport, will be the speaker at Grace Baptist Church here the week of April 16-21, according to Rev. Randolph Keefe, pastor.

First English Church, Frostburg, will have Rev. Cornelius Davis, pastor of First Baptist Church, Liveoaks, Fla., as evangelist, according to Rev. Marvin Simpson, pastor. Rev. Dr. C. P. Anderson, pastor of Deep Creek Baptist Church, Oakland, said his revival will be held April 23-30, with Rev. Dallas C. Bivins, missionary for the Western District, as evangelist.

LaVale Baptist Church will have Rev. T. Clifford Johnson, pastor of First Baptist Church here, as evangelist during the week of April 24-30, it was reported by Rev. J. C. Lanning, pastor. First Baptist Church, Westernport, will have Rev. Ross Morrison, pastor of First Baptist Church, Wheaton, as evangelist for the week of April 23-28, according to Rev. Henry Laube, pastor.

Rev. T. Clifford Johnson, pastor of First Baptist Church, announces that Rev. Robert Woodward, pastor of First Baptist Church, Frederick, will be the evangelist here this week, ending Friday.

Other churches which are not participating this month will hold revivals later in the summer, it was reported.

Rev. Archie McIntyre, pastor of Second Baptist Church, is chairman of evangelism, and Mrs. Alvin P. Friend, Deep Creek Baptist Church, is chairman of publicity for the Western Baptist Association.

Work On LaVale Shop Center Is Progressing

LaVale Plaza, the area's newest shopping center, located four miles west of Cumberland at the junction of U. S. 40, Braddock Road, and the proposed Cumberland Thurway, is 70 per cent completed in most cases and has already leased 87 per cent of available floor space.

Twenty-two store units will be available in the Plaza which will have 125,000 square feet of retail space. Seventeen of these have been leased by 12 operators, accounting for the 87 per cent of available space, and leaving 16,000 to 17,000 square feet or enough for five more stores.

George Waingold, local representative for LaVale Plaza and who will be manager when it opens, said leases have been signed with Village Dairy Store, a lunch counter, delicatessen and ice cream department operation; Safeway Stores, a food chain; McCrory-McLellan; W. T. Grant; Nobil Shoes; Peoples Drug Store; Joe The Motorist; Heinrich's Men's Shop; Vend-Mac, Inc. (a coin-operted laundry); My-Shop, Inc., a ladies ready-to-wear chain store; and Footer's Cleaners.

Negotiations are underway with a record shop, greeting card and gift shop, children's store, hobby shop, a barber and beauty parlor.

Waingold also announced arrangements have been made with Peoples Transit Company of Frostburg, to provide regular stops at the shopping center for the discharge and pickup of passengers. A waiting area will be provided. In addition, Yellow Top Cab of Cumberland will provide service to and from the center.

Waingold said in some instances concrete is being poured for flooring in the store area of LaVale Plaza. Most of the area has been roofed.

The target date for the grand opening of September 1 still stands, Waingold said, with the possibility it may open 30 days earlier than anticipated.

Announcement that Waingold will be manager of the Plaza was made by Wylie F. L. Tuttle, president, who with Herbert Papock, vice president of Collins Tuttle and Company, Inc., of New York, purchased the 17-acre parcel of land and set about to eliminate the natural barriers that stood in the way of development.

The new owners, in association with Bernard J. Rosensheim, president of Rosensheim Associates, shopping center developers, aided in converting two natural barriers into a usable tract. The barriers were Piney Mountain and a six-foot stream, Braddock Run.

The stream problem was solved by cutting deep trenches from where the stream first entered the area to the frontage on Route 40; then along the entire outer perimeter of the property. Having completed its detour, Braddock Run will be joined again with its natural stream bed at the point where it leaves the LaVale Plaza tract.

The master plan also called for construction of two, 120-foot bridges to span the relocated stream, and serve as entrance and exit.

Bad weather has held up this phase of the project but bridges are in place. In addition to landscaping, it is planned to erect a decorative, protective fence along the lenth of the stream.

All blasting has been completed in the present phase of removing part of Piney Mountain at the rear of the site. Plans call for expansion to an additional 50,000 square feet at a later date but it is not necessary to remove all of the protruding mountain at this time, officials said.

According to Tuttle, the master plan of the shopping center has been worked out so that the largest section of the mountain to be removed will not come until the ultimate expansion is in its final stages. In this initial phase, only a long, thin splinter of the mountain was removed.

The alteration plan has the approval of the Federal Department of Mines and Minerals. The center was designed by Louis Lieberman, New York architect, will be air conditioned and have piped-in music, weather protecting overhangs, community bulletin boards and parking facilities for more than 1,000 cars.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl 12 years old who is left out of all social activities because my father is an ex-convict. I try to be nice and friendly to everyone but it's no use. The girls at school have told me that their mothers don't want them to associate with me because it will be bad for their reputations. My father had some bad publicity in the papers and even though he has served his time nobody will forget it.

Is there anything I can do? I am very lonesome because it's no fun to be alone all the time. My mother tries to take me places with her but I want to be with people my own age. Please give me some advice — AN OUTCAST

DEAR LITTLE FRIEND: I refuse to call you an Outcast because I don't want you to think of yourself in that way ever again.

Everyone has the right to be judged for what he is and accepted for what he is.

Mothers who poison the minds of their young daughters by suggesting that a girl is not fit company because of something her father did are guilty of a crime against society, too. They keep alive the evil of guilt by association.

Many men who have served prison terms return to their communities to become respected and beloved leaders and humanitarians. They often work twice as hard to be useful citizens and they earn acceptance — and forgiveness.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I both enjoy your column and we read it to one another often. Recently you printed a letter from a man who spanked his wife with a ping pong paddle. My husband jokingly said, "I think that would be a good way to keep you in line"—and the same evening when we had an argument he did exactly that.

He has spanked me with the ping ping paddle three times since, and it really does hurt. I thought at first it was all in fun, but it's not funny any more. He has a hot temper and is very strong. I'm no match for him, physically. Tell me what to do.
RESENTFUL

DEAR RESENTFUL:: The only thing lower than a man who would hit a woman is a woman who would put up with it.

If you've been spanked four times and are just getting around to asking for advice there's something wrong with you as well as with him. Find a psychiatrist with two couches.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the young fellow whose motors wouldn't run. He wondered if it was possible that his discarded girl friend had put a hex on him.

Your answer was intelligent as usual. You told the young man that no person has no such power over another, and suggested that something was mechanically wrong with his motors.

A modern name for hexing, or casting an evil spell, is "fear psychology."' In their ignorance mothers often do this to their children. They say "Come on down from there or you'll fall"—or "Drop that knife or you'll cut yourself." The power of suggestion often results in the person doing exactly the wrong thing. It is far better to say "Please give me the knife. It's pretty and I would like to see the handle."

That you for letting me get this off my chest. —LOTTIE

Confidential to HERCULES: Well, bully for you! Two marriage failures and you're bragging that you've never needed outside help! It sounds like the operation was a success but the patient died.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Work On LaVale Shop Center Is Progressing

LaVale Plaza, the area's newest shopping center, located four miles west of Cumberland at the junction of U. S. 40, Braddock Road, and the proposed Cumberland Thurway, is 70 per cent completed in most cases and has already leased 87 per cent of available floor space.

Twenty-two store units will be available in the Plaza which will have 125,000 square feet of retail space. Seventeen of these have been leased by 12 operators, accounting for the 87 per cent of available space, and leaving 16,000 to 17,000 square feet or enough for five more stores.

George Waingold, local representative for LaVale Plaza and who will be manager when it opens, said leases have been signed with Village Dairy Store, a lunch counter, delicatessen and ice cream department operation; Safeway Stores, a food chain; McCrory-McLellan; W. T. Grant; Nobil Shoes; Peoples Drug Store; Joe The Motorist; Heinrich's Men's Shop; Vend-Mac, Inc. (a coin-operted laundry); My-Shop, Inc., a ladies ready-to-wear chain store; and Footer's Cleaners.

Negotiations are underway with a record shop, greeting card and gift shop, children's store, hobby shop, a barber and beauty parlor.

Waingold also announced arrangements have been made with Peoples Transit Company of Frostburg, to provide regular stops at the shopping center for the discharge and pickup of passengers. A waiting area will be provided. In addition, Yellow Top Cab of Cumberland will provide service to and from the center.

Waingold said in some instances concrete is being poured for flooring in the store area of LaVale Plaza. Most of the area has been roofed.

The target date for the grand opening of September 1 still stands, Waingold said, with the possibility it may open 30 days earlier than anticipated.

Announcement that Waingold will be manager of the Plaza was made by Wylie F. L. Tuttle, president, who with Herbert Papock, vice president of Collins Tuttle and Company, Inc., of New York, purchased the 17-acre parcel of land and set about to eliminate the natural barriers that stood in the way of development.

The new owners, in association with Bernard J. Rosensheim, president of Rosensheim Associates, shopping center developers, aided in converting two natural barriers into a usable tract. The barriers were Piney Mountain and a six-foot stream, Braddock Run.

The stream problem was solved by cutting deep trenches from where the stream first entered the area to the frontage on Route 40; then along the entire outer perimeter of the property. Having completed its detour, Braddock Run will be joined again with its natural stream bed at the point where it leaves the LaVale Plaza tract.

The master plan also called for construction of two, 120-foot bridges to span the relocated stream, and serve as entrance and exit.

Bad weather has held up this phase of the project but bridges are in place. In addition to landscaping, it is planned to erect a decorative, protective fence along the lenth of the stream.

All blasting has been completed in the present phase of removing part of Piney Mountain at the rear of the site. Plans call for expansion to an additional 50,000 square feet at a later date but it is not necessary to remove all of the protruding mountain at this time, officials said.

According to Tuttle, the master plan of the shopping center has been worked out so that the largest section of the mountain to be removed will not come until the ultimate expansion is in its final stages. In this initial phase, only a long, thin splinter of the mountain was removed.

The alteration plan has the approval of the Federal Department of Mines and Minerals. The center was designed by Louis Lieberman, New York architect, will be air conditioned and have piped-in music, weather protecting overhangs, community bulletin boards and parking facilities for more than 1,000 cars.

R. S. Noonan Construction Company of Pennsylvania, is general contractor.

According to the United States Mint, certain denominations of coins unaccountably accumulate in certain cities. Cincinnati seems to like nickels, dimes pile up in San Antonio and Minneapolis has an abundance of quarters.

School Board Continues Salary Fight

Seeks Opinion From Finan

The Allegany County Board of Education yesterday reiterated its stand for a $4,000 to $6,200 teachers' salary schedule in the 1961-62 school year despite the apparently final action of April 4 by the County Board of Commissioners in granting only a $100 increase for all teachers.

The school board first advocated the $4,000 to $6,200 schedule on January 17 when it approved the recommended salary scheduled as submitted by the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association. That would have given most teachers a $300 or $400-a-year raise.

$554,681 Expected

At yesterday's meeting, the school board pointed out that the county commissioners are expected to get an additional $554,681 from the state in the coming fiscal year as a result of legislative action increasing the cigarette tax to six cents per pack and lowering the point at which the sales tax will be imposed.

In support of its position, the school board instructed Superintendent Ralph R. Webster to write Attorney General Thomas B. Finan for a legal opinion as to whether the Allegany County commissioners could include any of this anticipated increased revenue in their budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the county commissioners, ruled last week before the annual levy list was approved that the commissioners could not consider these increased funds in their next budget. As a result, the county's surplus, which now stands at about $615,000, could zoom above $1,000,000 a year from now.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Board of Education, also asked Mrs. Richard Winer, a board member, to study the proposal of County Commissioner John T. Mason for additional compensation to high school teachers with a master's degree in the field in which they teach.

Under the present schedule, a teacher with a master's degree in any field gets $300 a year additional compensation. The increase above the bachelor's degree level is $500 for a master's with 30 hours toward a doctorate, $700 for a master's plus 60 hours and $900 for a doctorate.

$300 For Master's

Mr. Mason's proposal would give a teacher with a master's degree in the field in which he teaches an additional $300 above the figures cited.

In another salary action yesterday, the Board of Education approved a $16,000 salary for Superintendent Webster in the 1961-62 fiscal year. The board originally asked for $17,000 or a $2,000 increase if the General Assembly should approve a $16,000 minimum salary for superintendents. The legislation was amended to set the minimum at $14,000.

Permission was granted yesterday to four groups for use of school facilities. The Tri-Towns Lions Club obtained permission to use the Bruce High School auditorium for a hillbilly show on May 4 for the benefit of a new road from Jake's Place to the school.

Approval also was granted to the Flintstone Girl Scouts and Brownies to use the Flintstone School auditorium for a minstrel. Use of the Valley High School baseball diamond by Lonaconing teams in Pen-Mar and Pony leagues was approved with specific safeguards including supervision by Coach John C. Meyers.

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce received permission to use the Fort Hill High School stadium for a drum and bugle corps contest on May 12.

Health Service Seeks Opinions Of Subscribers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Subscribers of the Maryland Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan are again being asked what they think of the health care program.

Questionnaires were mailed Tuesday to the plan's 1961 Subscriber Advisory Committee.

The advisory committee idea was started last year. It is designed to determine subscriber attitudes on Blue Cross-Blue Shield benefits, services and operations and to develop suggestions for improvement.

1,900 In Unit

The advisory committee has 1,900 members — 1,100 in group plans and 800 non-group subscribers. The members were picked at random and are changed each year.

The 1960 advisory committee numbered about 500. Blue Cross officials said acceptance by 1,900 subscribers this year indicates an increased constructive interest in the plan.

"If our surveys show subscribers have a high degree of satisfaction with Blue Cross - Blue Shield, we'll be pleased, of course. But the most important thing this program can do is to give us a better understanding of how subscribers believe we can improve," said R. H. Dabney, executive director of the non-profit plan.

Seek Remarks

Some of the questions in the first survey:

How do you think Blue Cross-Blue Shield differs from other hospital care programs?

How much of the money you pay into Blue Cross do you believe is used for benefits, operating expenses and added to reserves?

Safety Glasses For Laboratory Use Advocated

A proposal that students in all laboratories in Allegany County public schools be equipped with safety glasses was advanced yesterday by Mrs. Richard Winer, a board member.

Mrs. Winer pointed out that a test tube was broken in an Allegany High School laboratory recently and a serious eye injury was narrowly averted.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster was requested to obtain data from science teachers concerning the number of pairs of such glasses as would be needed.

TB Directors To Meet Tomorrow

The directors will discuss the budget and program for the coming year and will make plans for the annual meeting which will be held next month.

Polaris Using ABL Motor Falls Short

A Navy Polaris missile plunged out of flight into the Atlantic yesterday because a second - stage motor made at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory didn't ignite.

The Polaris A-2, launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., was fired on a planned flight of 1,400 miles. The first stage sent the missile up, but it fell into the ocean a few miles off the cape.

It was uncertain whether the second-stage motor was responsible. The Navy put out a statement saying "an apparent malfunction in the second-stage motor resulted in an aborted flight."

ABL officials said investigations are being conducted to determine why the motor didn't ignite. They said preliminary information "indicates that no ABL-supplied parts were involved in the failure."

The objectives of the flight included evaluation of performance of ABL's second-stage motor, performance of the missile, and its action during powered flight.

Former PPG Head Here Helps Develop New Glass

Robert M. Hainsfurther, vice president in the Production Glass Division of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and former manager of Works Seven here, is playing an important part in the production of a new type of plate glass.

The new product is a rough-finish plate glass which has gained wide acceptance in the architectural field, where it is used as patterned glass for translucent partitions, obscured window and door panels, skylights and various other uses.

PPG previously had one kind of this rudimentary form of plate glass, but within the last several months another design was added, called "Stipple."

Once officials of PPG decided to add the new line of glass, the challenge of manufacturing "Stipple," a montage of snowflake crystal designs, fell to Mr. Hainsfurther's division.

After the pattern was chosen, Mr. Hainsfurther's production crews began to solve the major difficulties which had to be overcome before production could be started.

The new product is now being produced at Works Four at Ford City, Pa., and soon will be in production at Works One at Creighton, Pa., where John B. White, former local PPG plant manager, is now manager.

Many problems and setbacks were encountered by Mr. Hainsfurther's workers in the glass division, but now the new product is on the market and has been applied to many new major building projects throughout the United States.

Prison Term Review Asked By TWUA Head

NEW YORK (AP)—William Pollock, president of the Textile Workers Union of America, Tuesday urged North Carolina to review the sentences of eight unionists after a prime witness in their conviction was arrested in a Martinsville, Va., motel.

Harold Elzie Aaron of Leaksville, N. C., whose testimony led to the conviction of eight men on charges of conspiring to blow up facilities of the struck Harriet-Henderson cotton mills in Henderson, N. C., was charged with malicious wounding Saturday night of John Layton Pulliam, 25, of Danville, Va.

Man Is Shot

Police said Aaron was in a motel room with a 17-year-old girl when Pulliam, who was in the next room, entered. An argument followed, authorities said, and Pulliam was wounded. Aaron claimed the shooting was accidental.

Pollock said in a statement:

"The State of North Carolina held this man (Aaron) up as an upright, dependable citizen. His testimony was offered and accepted. His claim of last Saturday that he is an undercover agent for the State Bureau of Investigation has just been denied by North Carolina's attorney general. Aaron's police record includes a conviction of impersonating an officer.

Lose Appeal

"Our eight (union) officers and men have already served more than five months of their long sentences. They were behind bars while the state's principal witness was engaged in the disgraceful episode involving a 17-year-old girl in a motel room. Surely this situation demands that law abiding, decent people call for this grave injustice to be reviewed."

Boyd Payton of Charlotte, N.C., a regional director of the TWUA, was among the eight sent to prison in the conspiracy conviction growing out of the long, violent strike at Henderson. They appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court, but were turned down and began serving prison terms last fall.

Judge Harris Issues Warning To Burglars

Seven Young Men Draw 24½ Years

Burglars and robbers in Allegany County drew a stern warning yesterday from Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court who sentenced seven young men to a total of 24½ years in Maryland correctional institutions.

"We have had a wave of breakings and enterings in this county during the past year and we have had a number of armed robberies and we are going to put a stop to it," Judge Harris asserted before passing sentences on three young men involved in burglaries in the George's Creek area of the county.

"The people of this county have a right to feel some security in their places of business and in their homes and the only way in which that can be done is to mete out punishment that will deter others from pursuing such a life of crime. All of them have not yet been caught but those that are caught and come before me are going to find out this is not a haven for people who want to take other people's property," Judge Harris concluded.

Six Years To Baker

The heaviest sentence was meted out upon Thomas Baker, 18, of Klondyke, who drew four consecutive 18-month sentences in the Maryland Reformatory for Males on four burglary charges. That is a total of 72 months or six years.

Baker had pleaded guilty March 14 to four charges of burglary. He was accused of breaking into the home of Midland Post 169, American Legion, on January 22 and again on February 23; Engle's Market in Eckhart on February 22 and Waddell's liquor store in Lonaconing on February 26.

Joseph R. Whetstone, 18, also of Klondyke, who was indicted by the grand jury last week on three of the same four burglaries, pleaded guilty yesterday. Judge Harris levied a sentence of up to 18 months in the Reformatory upon Whetstone on each of the charges or a total of four-and-one-half years in concurrent sentences. Whetstone was not implicated in the second burglary of the Midland Legion Home.

A third Klondyke defendant, Franklin S. Cutter, 30, was sentenced to three years in the Maryland House of Correction by Judge Harris. Cutter was found guilty of receiving stolen goods in the second burglary of the Midland Legion Home.

Walter Francis Perry, 25, of Vale Summit, who pleaded guilty to grand larceny and fraud, was sentenced by Judge Harris to a term not to exceed two years in the Maryland Reformatory on a charge of stealing $168 worth of copper cable last October from the George's Creek Coal Company at Knapp's Meadow. The sentence is dated from November 1 because Perry had been in the County Jail awaiting indictment since then. The sentence was the same that was imposed last fall upon Perry's compatriot, Lewis Junior Airhart, 25, of 172 Mechanic Street, Frostburg.

$400 By Fraud

The second charge against Perry accused him of fraud in obtaining $400 by mail from the Dial Finance Company of Des Moines, Iowa. Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason told Judge Harris that Perry had replied to a magazine advertisement which offered to loan money by mail. In applying, Perry submitted his father's credit references. The father's name is Walter Hugh Perry.

Commenting that the finance company was "asking for it," by engaging in this type of business, Judge Harris levied a two-year sentence upon Perry on this charge but provided that it should concurrent with his other sentence.

Three other young men from the Paw Paw, W. Va., area were given three years each in the Maryland Penitentiary. They had pleaded guilty March 15 to breaking into the Ray Larkin store along Uhl Highway on the Maryland side of the Potomac River opposite Paw Paw. These identical sentences were imposed upon William Foster Parker, 29, RFD 1, Paw Paw; Carl Robert Evans, 27, Paw Paw, and James Henry Herrell, 21, RFD 1, Paw Paw.

Man Fined On Liquor Charge

Stevens pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday at a hearing before Magistrate Paul F. Barnett.

Edward F. Wilson, an inspector for the Allegany County Liquor Board of Liquor License Commissioners, visited the Zihlman tavern Sunday at 3:30 p. m. and found 13 persons drinking beer.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, prosecuted the case yesterday.

Injured In Fall

Gary W. Burkett, 12, of Hyndman, Pa., was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday evening after he sustained a fractured right arm when he fell while playing at home.

School Board Continues Salary Fight

Seeks Opinion From Finan

The Allegany County Board of Education yesterday reiterated its stand for a $4,000 to $6,200 teachers' salary schedule in the 1961-62 school year despite the apparently final action of April 4 by the County Board of Commissioners in granting only a $100 increase for all teachers.

The school board first advocated the $4,000 to $6,200 schedule on January 17 when it approved the recommended salary scheduled as submitted by the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association. That would have given most teachers a $300 or $400-a-year raise.

$554,681 Expected

At yesterday's meeting, the school board pointed out that the county commissioners are expected to get an additional $554,681 from the state in the coming fiscal year as a result of legislative action increasing the cigarette tax to six cents per pack and lowering the point at which the sales tax will be imposed.

In support of its position, the school board instructed Superintendent Ralph R. Webster to write Attorney General Thomas B. Finan for a legal opinion as to whether the Allegany County commissioners could include any of this anticipated increased revenue in their budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the county commissioners, ruled last week before the annual levy list was approved that the commissioners could not consider these increased funds in their next budget. As a result, the county's surplus, which now stands at about $615,000, could zoom above $1,000,000 a year from now.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Board of Education, also asked Mrs. Richard Winer, a board member, to study the proposal of County Commissioner John T. Mason for additional compensation to high school teachers with a master's degree in the field in which they teach.

Under the present schedule, a teacher with a master's degree in any field gets $300 a year additional compensation. The increase above the bachelor's degree level is $500 for a master's with 30 hours toward a doctorate, $700 for a master's plus 60 hours and $900 for a doctorate.

$300 For Master's

Mr. Mason's proposal would give a teacher with a master's degree in the field in which he teaches an additional $300 above the figures cited.

In another salary action yesterday, the Board of Education approved a $16,000 salary for Superintendent Webster in the 1961-62 fiscal year. The board originally asked for $17,000 or a $2,000 increase if the General Assembly should approve a $16,000 minimum salary for superintendents. The legislation was amended to set the minimum at $14,000.

Health Service Seeks Opinions Of Subscribers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Subscribers of the Maryland Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan are again being asked what they think of the health care program.

Questionnaires were mailed Tuesday to the plan's 1961 Subscriber Advisory Committee.

The advisory committee idea was started last year. It is designed to determine subscriber attitudes on Blue Cross-Blue Shield benefits, services and operations and to develop suggestions for improvement.

1,900 In Unit

The advisory committee has 1,900 members — 1,100 in group plans and 800 non-group subscribers. The members were picked at random and are changed each year.

The 1960 advisory committee numbered about 500. Blue Cross officials said acceptance by 1,900 subscribers this year indicates an increased constructive interest in the plan.

"If our surveys show subscribers have a high degree of satisfaction with Blue Cross - Blue Shield, we'll be pleased, of course. But the most important thing this program can do is to give us a better understanding of how subscribers believe we can improve," said R. H. Dabney, executive director of the non-profit plan.

Seek Remarks

The first 1961 questionnaire contains three pages of questions and has a page for additional remarks. Committee members need not sign their names.

Some of the questions in the first survey:

How do you think Blue Cross-Blue Shield differs from other hospital care programs?

How much of the money you pay into Blue Cross do you believe is used for benefits, operating expenses and added to reserves?

Safety Glasses For Laboratory Use Advocated

A proposal that students in all laboratories in Allegany County public schools be equipped with safety glasses was advanced yesterday by Mrs. Richard Winer, a board member.

Mrs. Winer pointed out that a test tube was broken in an Allegany High School laboratory recently and a serious eye injury was narrowly averted.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster was requested to obtain data from science teachers concerning the number of pairs of such glasses as would be needed.

TB Directors To Meet Tomorrow

The board of directors of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association will meet tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the association's headquarters on the second floor of 129½ South Liberty Street.

Polaris Using ABL Motor Falls Short

A Navy Polaris missile plunged out of flight into the Atlantic yesterday because a second - stage motor made at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory didn't ignite.

The Polaris A-2, launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., was fired on a planned flight of 1,400 miles. The first stage sent the missile up, but it fell into the ocean a few miles off the cape.

It was uncertain whether the second-stage motor was responsible. The Navy put out a statement saying "an apparent malfunction in the second-stage motor resulted in an aborted flight."

ABL officials said investigations are being conducted to determine why the motor didn't ignite. They said preliminary information "indicates that no ABL-supplied parts were involved in the failure."

Former PPG Head Here Helps Develop New Glass

Robert M. Hainsfurther, vice president in the Production Glass Division of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and former manager of Works Seven here, is playing an important part in the production of a new type of plate glass.

The new product is a rough-finish plate glass which has gained wide acceptance in the architectural field, where it is used as patterned glass for translucent partitions, obscured window and door panels, skylights and various other uses.

PPG previously had one kind of this rudimentary form of plate glass, but within the last several months another design was added, called "Stipple."

Once officials of PPG decided to add the new line of glass, the challenge of manufacturing "Stipple," a montage of snowflake crystal designs, fell to Mr. Hainsfurther's division.

After the pattern was chosen, Mr. Hainsfurther's production crews began to solve the major difficulties which had to be overcome before production could be started.

The new product is now being produced at Works Four at Ford City, Pa., and soon will be in production at Works One at Creighton, Pa., where John B. White, former local PPG plant manager, is now manager.

Many problems and setbacks were encountered by Mr. Hainsfurther's workers in the glass division, but now the new product is on the market and has been applied to many new major building projects throughout the United States.

Prison Term Review Asked By TWUA Head

NEW YORK (AP)—William Pollock, president of the Textile Workers Union of America, Tuesday urged North Carolina to review the sentences of eight unionists after a prime witness in their conviction was arrested in a Martinsville, Va., motel.

Harold Elzie Aaron of Leaksville, N. C., whose testimony led to the conviction of eight men on charges of conspiring to blow up facilities of the struck Harriet-Henderson cotton mills in Henderson, N. C., was charged with malicious wounding Saturday night of John Layton Pulliam, 25, of Danville, Va.

Man Is Shot

Police said Aaron was in a motel room with a 17-year-old girl when Pulliam, who was in the next room, entered. An argument followed, authorities said, and Pulliam was wounded. Aaron claimed the shooting was accidental.

Pollock said in a statement:

"The State of North Carolina held this man (Aaron) up as an upright, dependable citizen. His testimony was offered and accepted. His claim of last Saturday that he is an undercover agent for the State Bureau of Investigation has just been denied by North Carolina's attorney general. Aaron's police record includes a conviction of impersonating an officer.

Lose Appeal

"Our eight (union) officers and men have already served more than five months of their long sentences. They were behind bars while the state's principal witness was engaged in the disgraceful episode involving a 17-year-old girl in a motel room. Surely this situation demands that law abiding, decent people call for this grave injustice to be reviewed."

Boyd Payton of Charlotte, N.C., a regional director of the TWUA, was among the eight sent to prison in the conspiracy conviction growing out of the long, violent strike at Henderson. They appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court, but were turned down and began serving prison terms last fall.

Judge Harris Issues Warning To Burglars

Seven Young Men Draw 24½ Years

Burglars and robbers in Allegany County drew a stern warning yesterday from Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court who sentenced seven young men to a total of 24½ years in Maryland correctional institutions.

"We have had a wave of breakings and enterings in this county during the past year and we have had a number of armed robberies and we are going to put a stop to it," Judge Harris asserted before passing sentences on three young men involved in burglaries in the George's Creek area of the county.

"The people of this county have a right to feel some security in their places of business and in their homes and the only way in which that can be done is to mete out punishment that will deter others from pursuing such a life of crime. All of them have not yet been caught but those that are caught and come before me are going to find out this is not a haven for people who want to take other people's property," Judge Harris concluded.

Six Years To Baker

The heaviest sentence was meted out upon Thomas Baker, 18, of Klondyke, who drew four consecutive 18-month sentences in the Maryland Reformatory for Males on four burglary charges. That is a total of 72 months or six years.

Baker had pleaded guilty March 14 to four charges of burglary. He was accused of breaking into the home of Midland Post 169, American Legion, on January 22 and again on February 23; Engle's Market in Eckhart on February 22 and Waddell's liquor store in Lonaconing on February 26.

Joseph R. Whetstone, 18, also of Klondyke, who was indicted by the grand jury last week on three of the same four burglaries, pleaded guilty yesterday. Judge Harris levied a sentence of up to 18 months in the Reformatory upon Whetstone on each of the charges or a total of four-and-one-half years in concurrent sentences. Whetstone was not implicated in the second burglary of the Midland Legion Home.

A third Klondyke defendant, Franklin S. Cutter, 30, was sentenced to three years in the Maryland House of Correction by Judge Harris. Cutter was found guilty of receiving stolen goods in the second burglary of the Midland Legion Home.

Walter Francis Perry, 25, of Vale Summit, who pleaded guilty to grand larceny and fraud, was sentenced by Judge Harris to a term not to exceed two years in the Maryland Reformatory on a charge of stealing $168 worth of copper cable last October from the George's Creek Coal Company at Knapp's Meadow. The sentence is dated from November 1 because Perry had been in the County Jail awaiting indictment since then. The sentence was the same that was imposed last fall upon Perry's compatriot, Lewis Junior Airhart, 25, of 172 Mechanic Street, Frostburg.

$400 By Fraud

The second charge against Perry accused him of fraud in obtaining $400 by mail from the Dial Finance Company of Des Moines, Iowa. Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason told Judge Harris that Perry had replied to a magazine advertisement which offered to loan money by mail. In applying, Perry submitted his father's credit references. The father's name is Walter Hugh Perry.

Commenting that the finance company was "asking for it," by engaging in this type of business, Judge Harris levied a two-year sentence upon Perry on this charge but provided that it should concurrent with his other sentence.

Three other young men from the Paw Paw, W. Va., area were given three years each in the Maryland Penitentiary. They had pleaded guilty March 15 to breaking into the Ray Larkin store along Uhl Highway on the Maryland side of the Potomac River opposite Paw Paw. These identical sentences were imposed upon William Foster Parker, 29, RFD 1, Paw Paw; Carl Robert Evans, 27, Paw Paw, and James Henry Herrell, 21, RFD 1, Paw Paw.

Man Fined On Liquor Charge

Harry F. Stevens yesterday was fined $250 in Trial Magistrate Court on a charge of permitting the consumption of alcoholic beverages at his place of business Sunday in Zihlman.

Stevens pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday at a hearing before Magistrate Paul F. Barnett.

Edward F. Wilson, an inspector for the Allegany County Liquor Board of Liquor License Commissioners, visited the Zihlman tavern Sunday at 3:30 p. m. and found 13 persons drinking beer.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, prosecuted the case yesterday.

Injured In Fall

Gary W. Burkett, 12, of Hyndman, Pa., was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday evening after he sustained a fractured right arm when he fell while playing at home.
